THANKS!

This year's graduating class owes a special thanks to Paul McGillivray and Maureen Dunn. Taking over the posts of president and vice-president from Paula Becker and Diane Damplo at the beginning of the senior year, Paul and Maureen transformed the class into one of the most dynamic in recent NHS history.

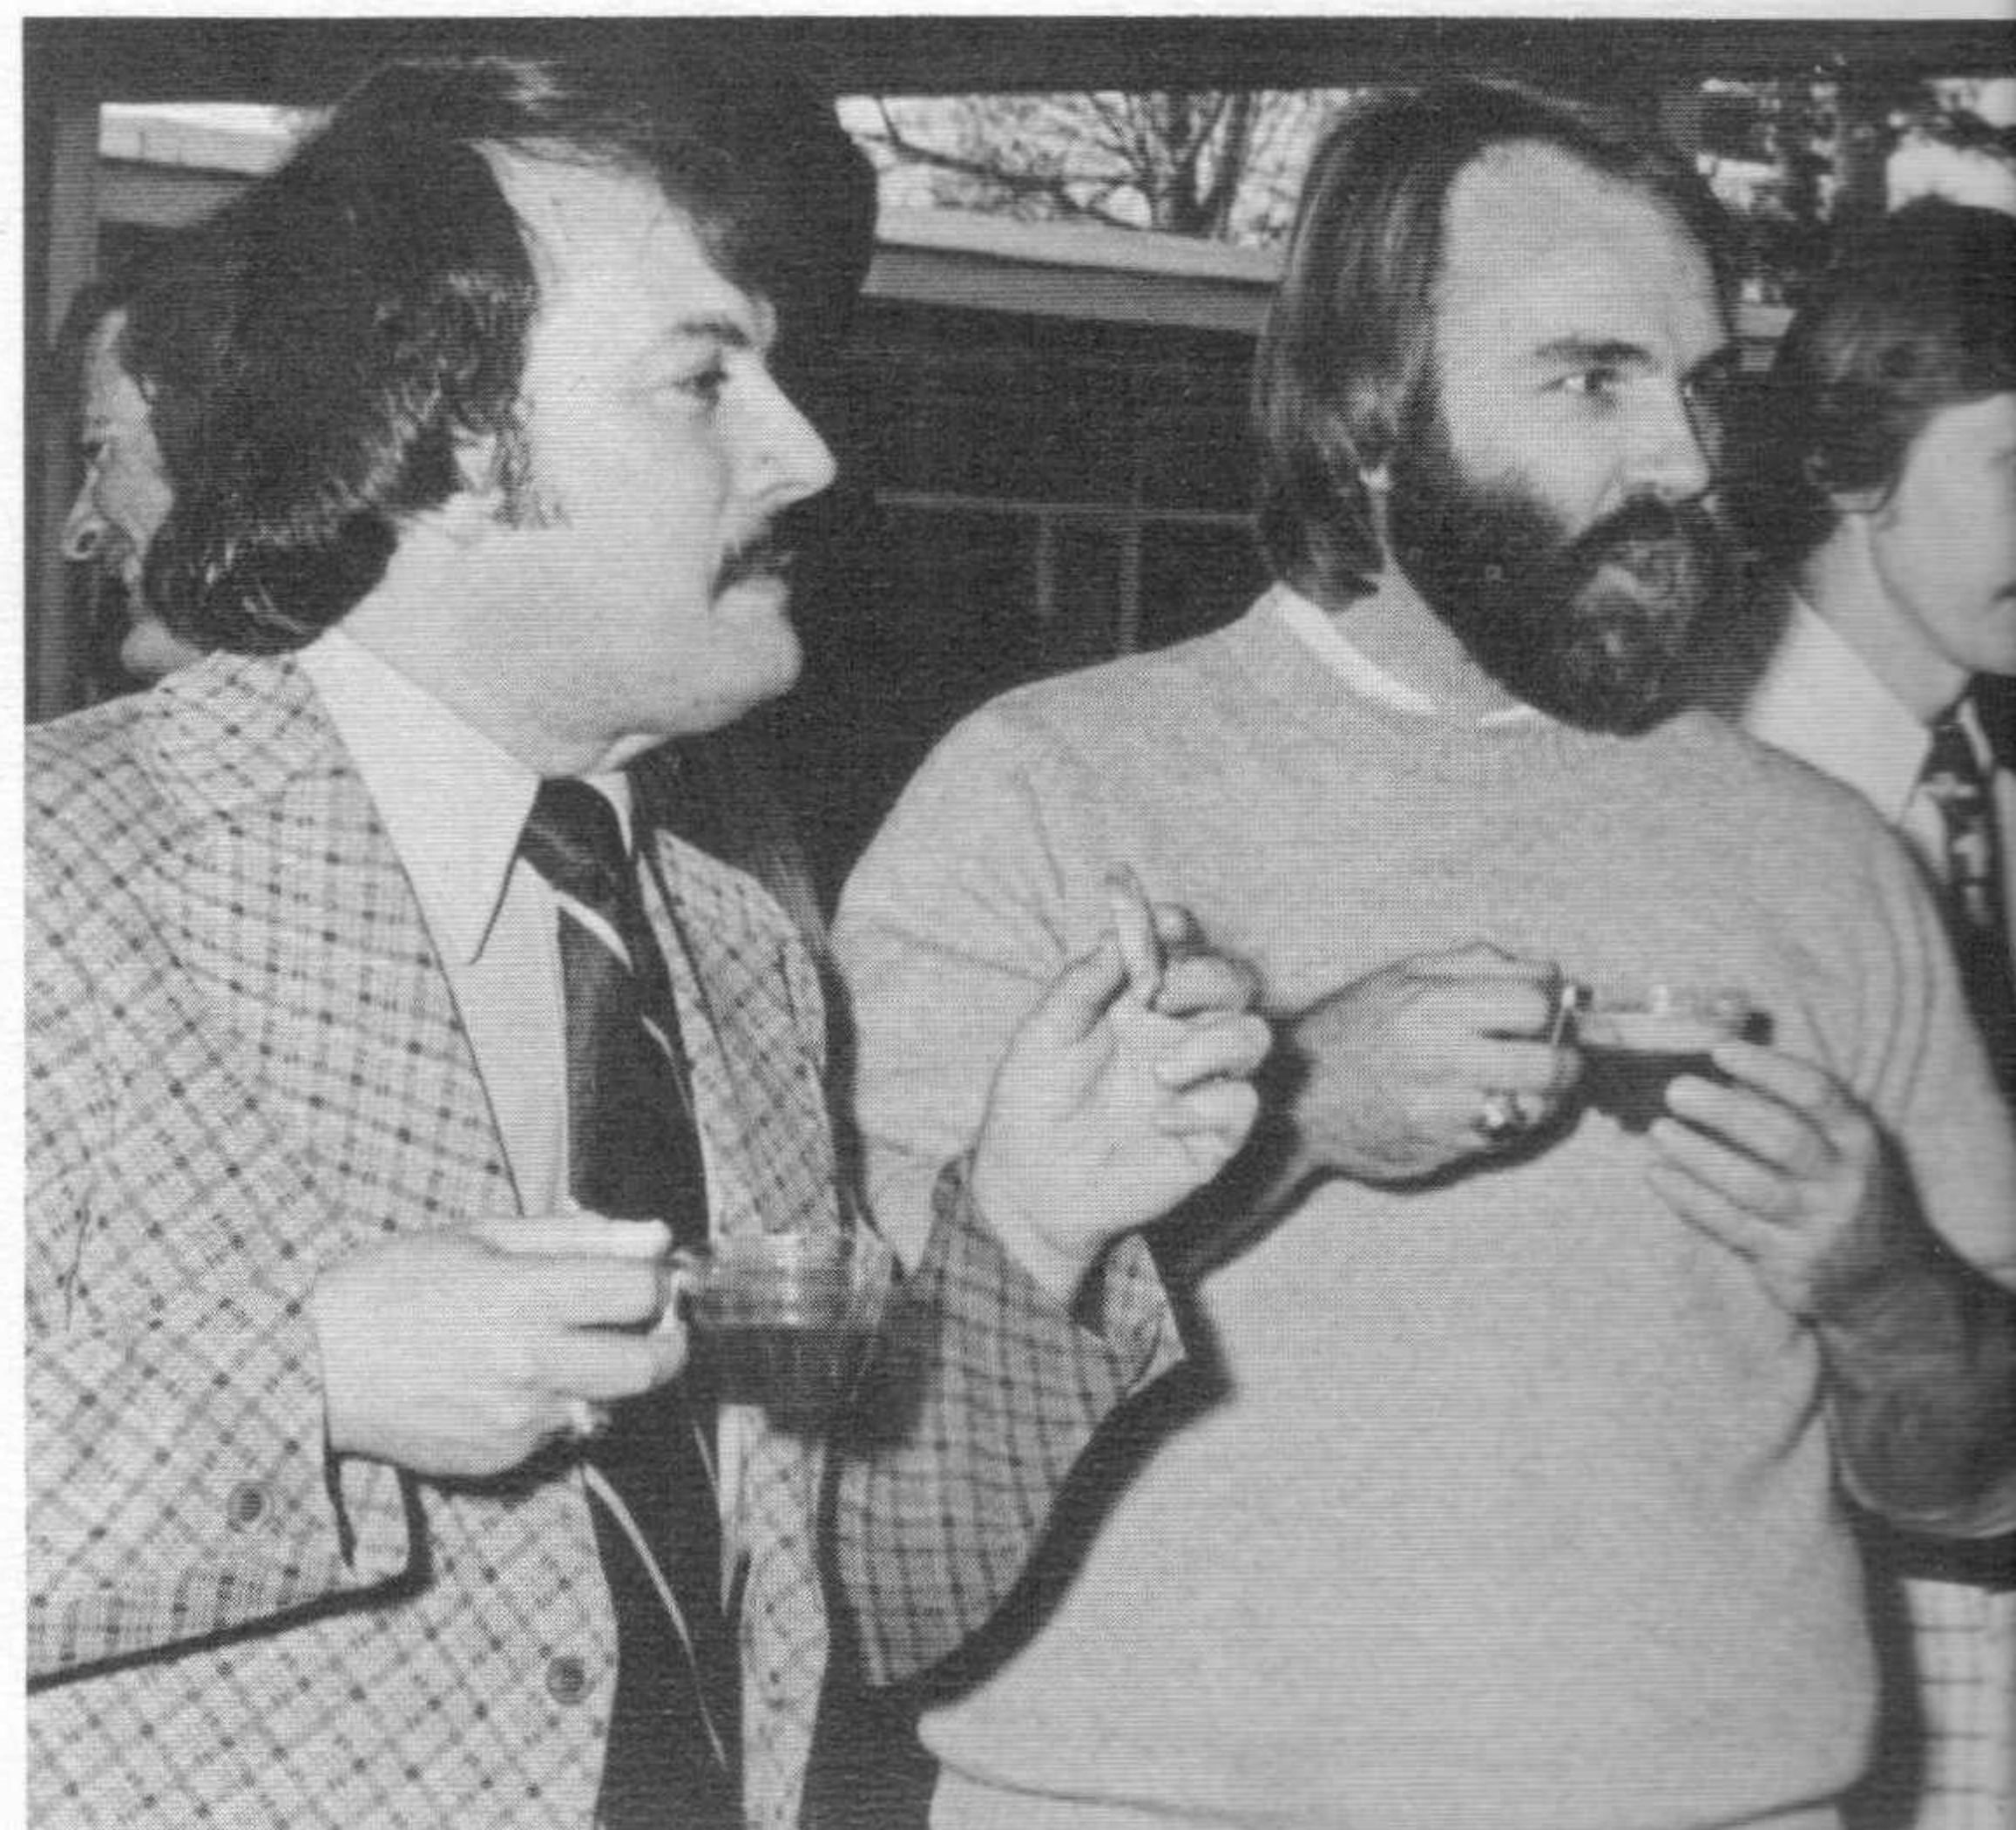

Before school began in September, the senior lounge was repainted and, during the year, new furniture was purchased. The speakers were stolen twice, helping to drive the class into a financial hole.

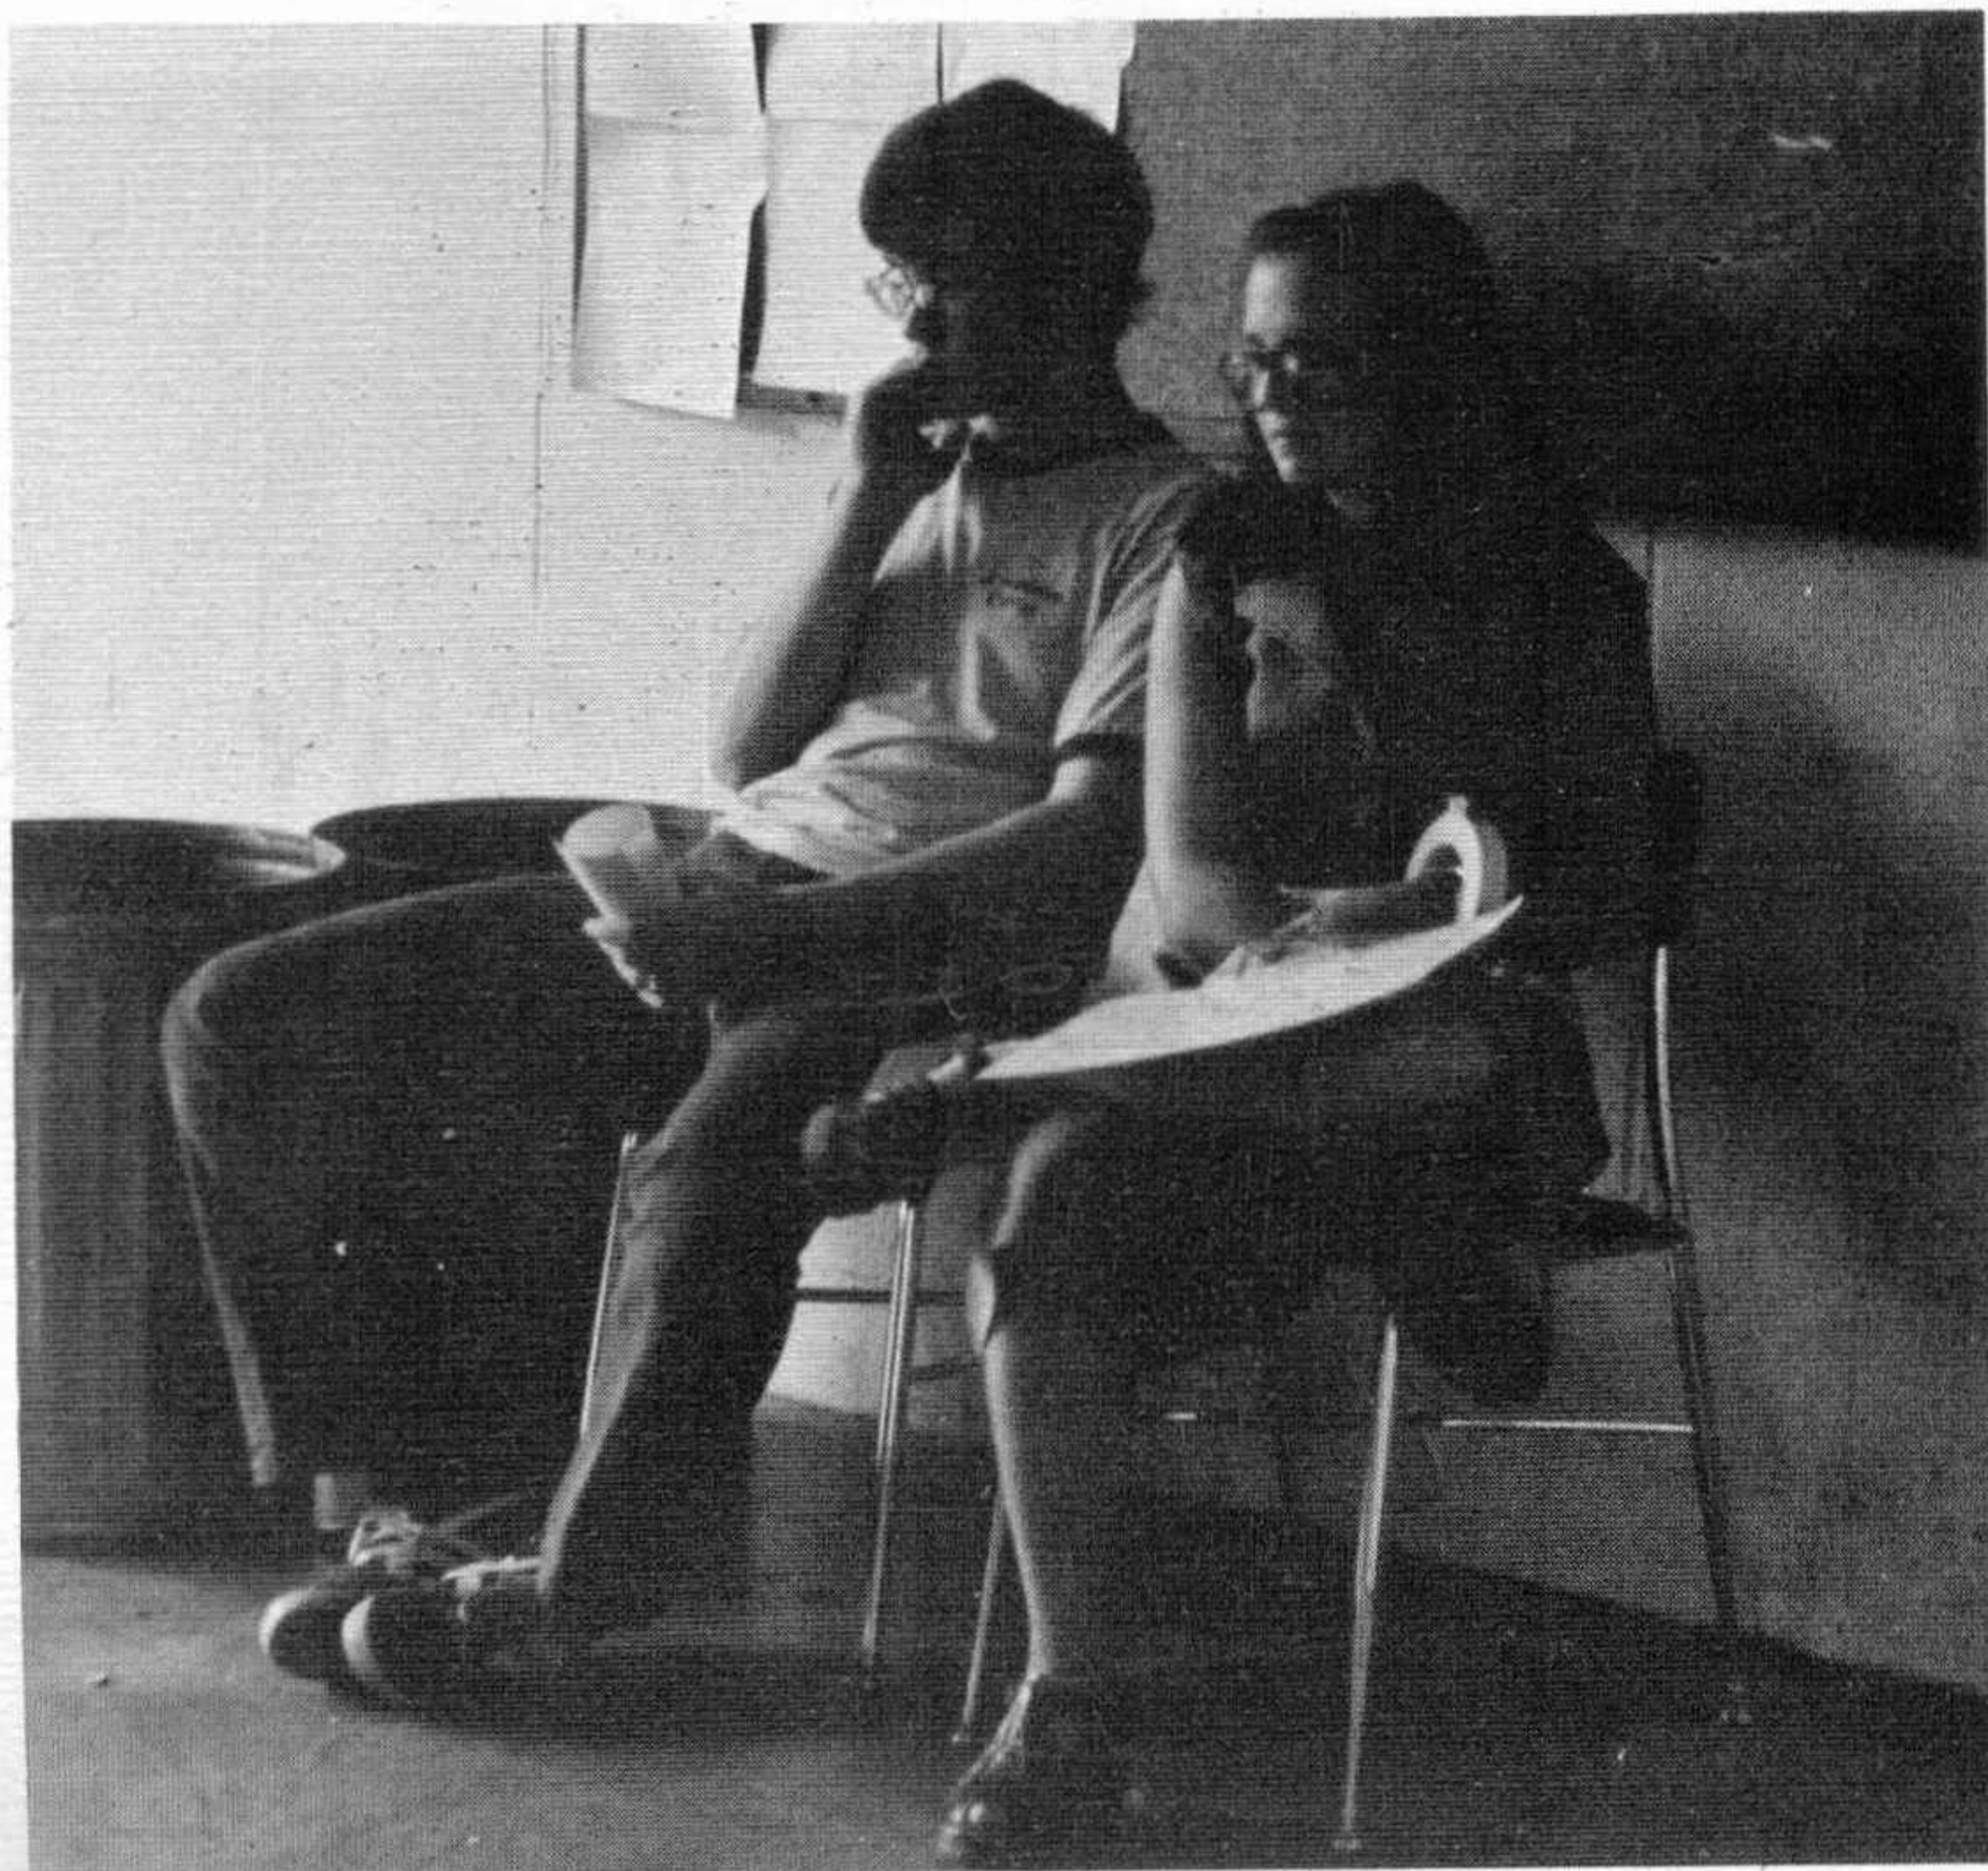

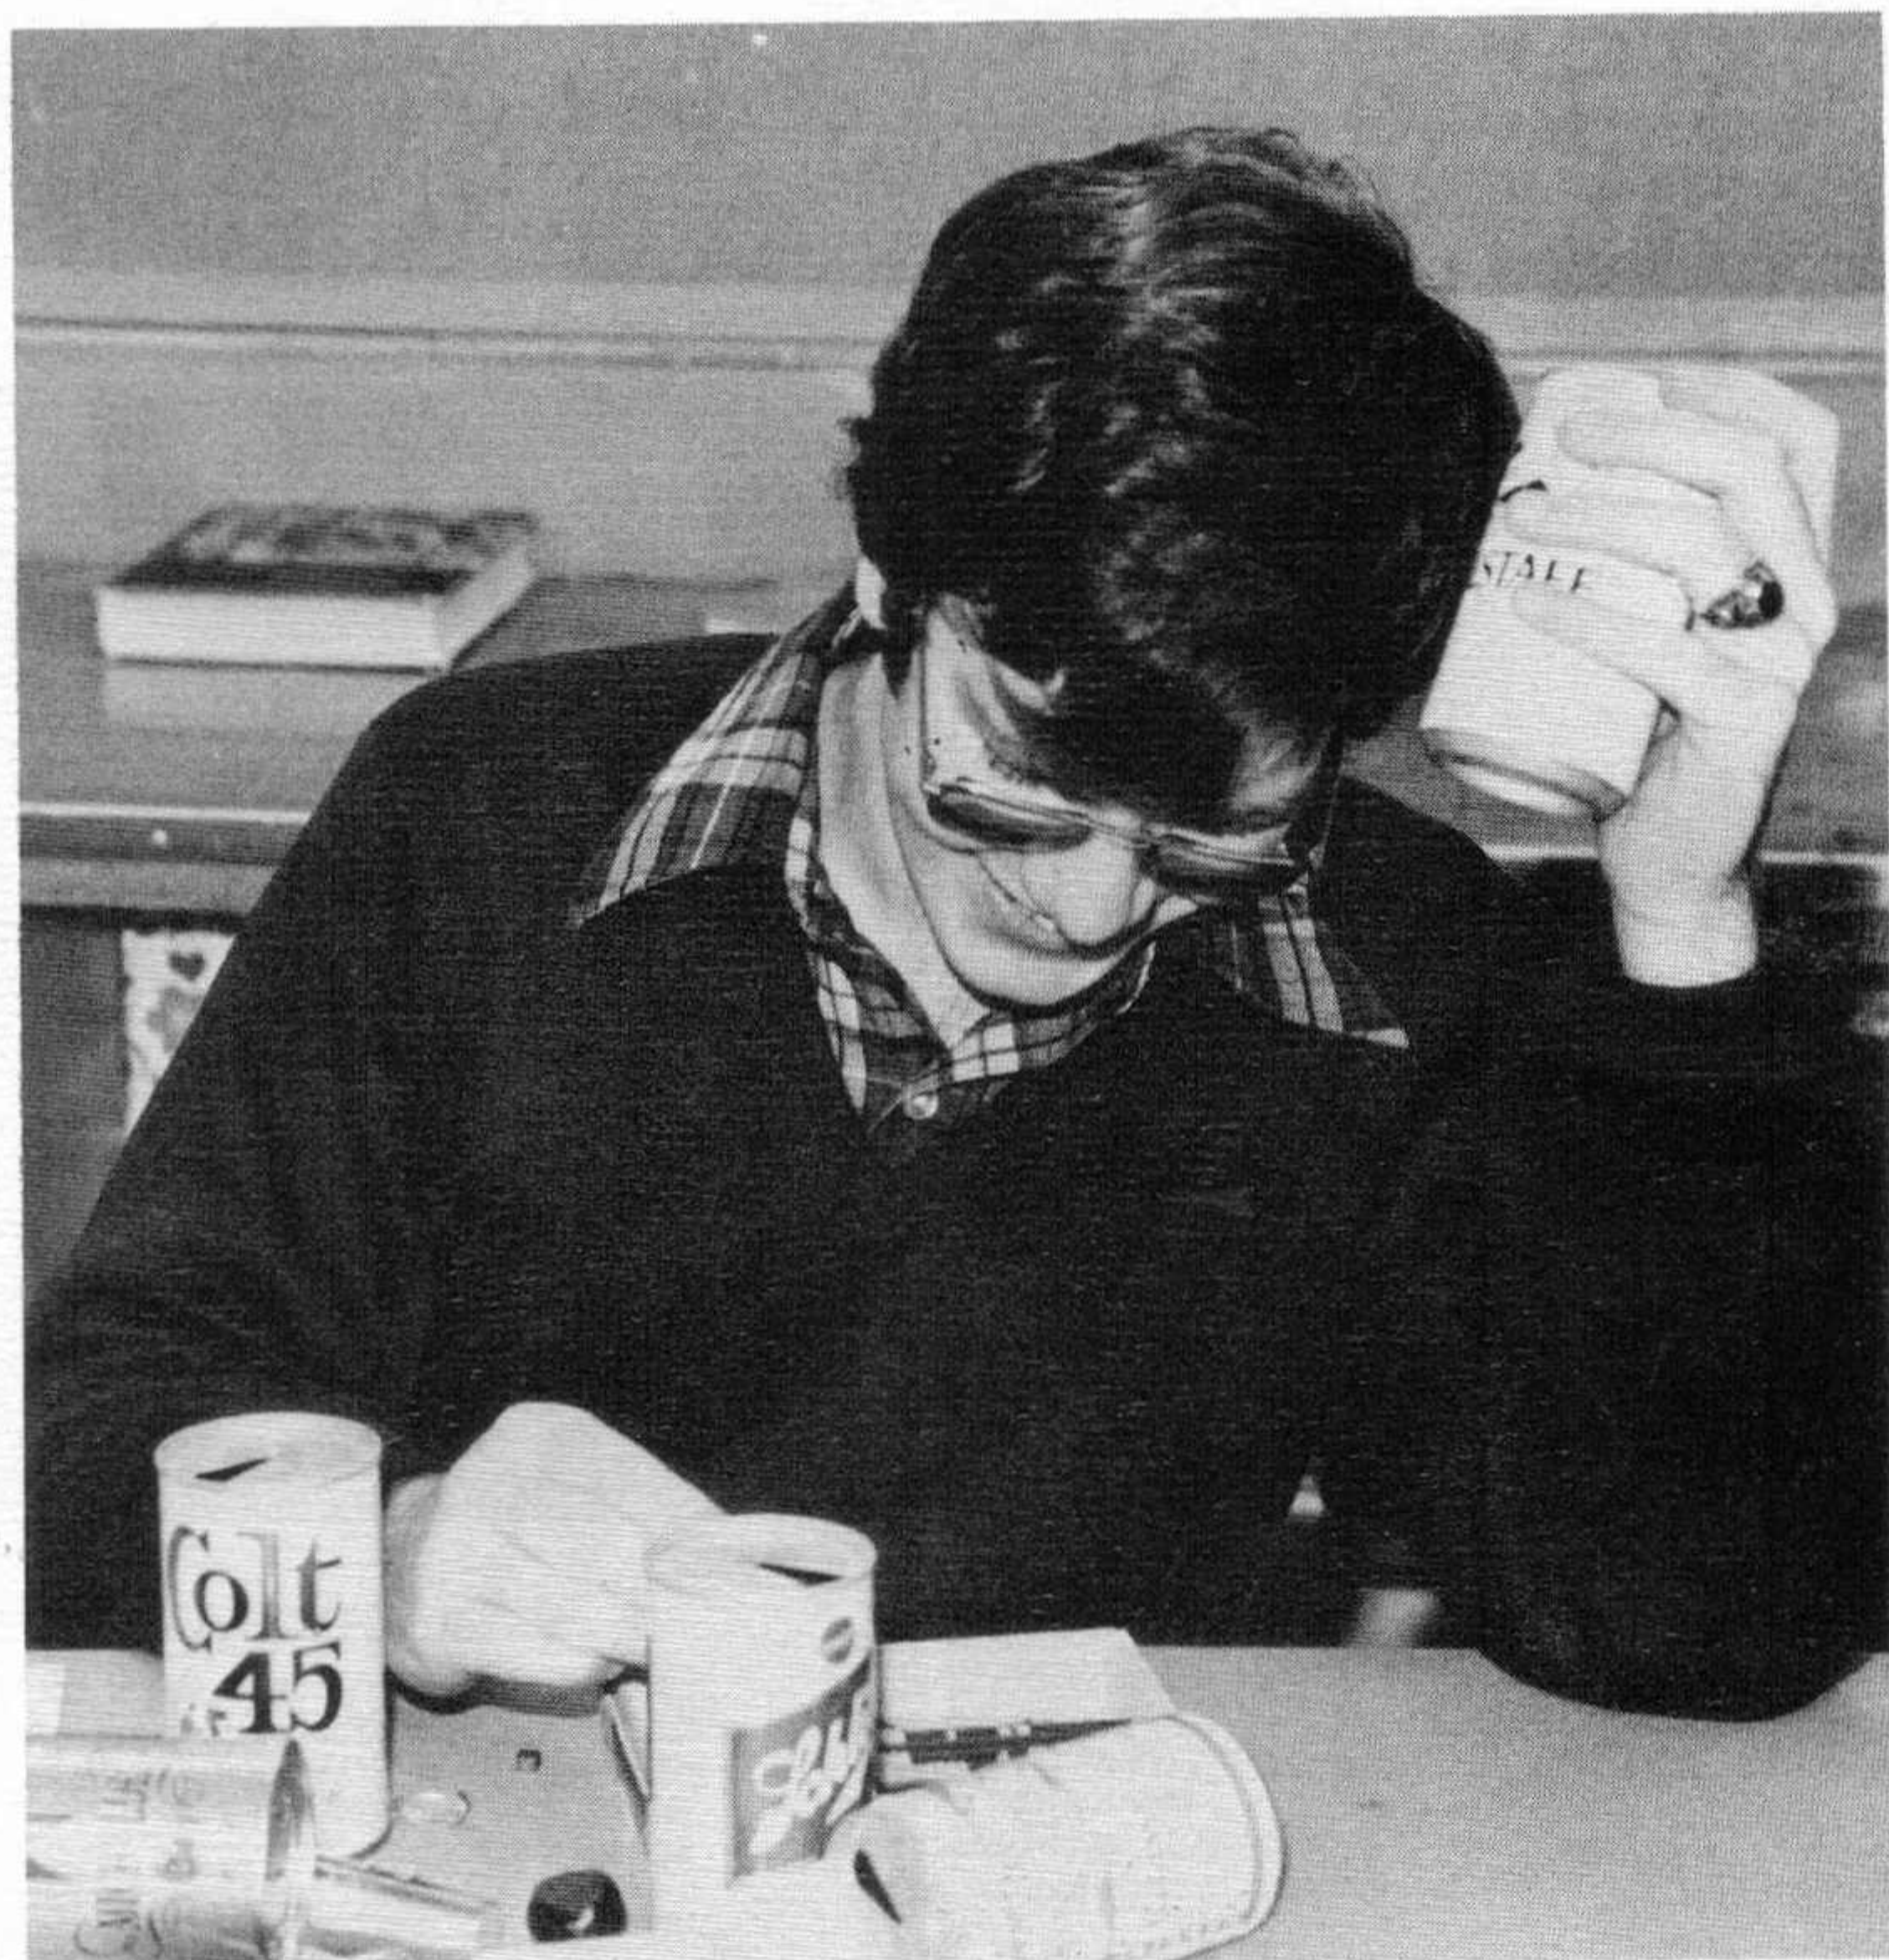

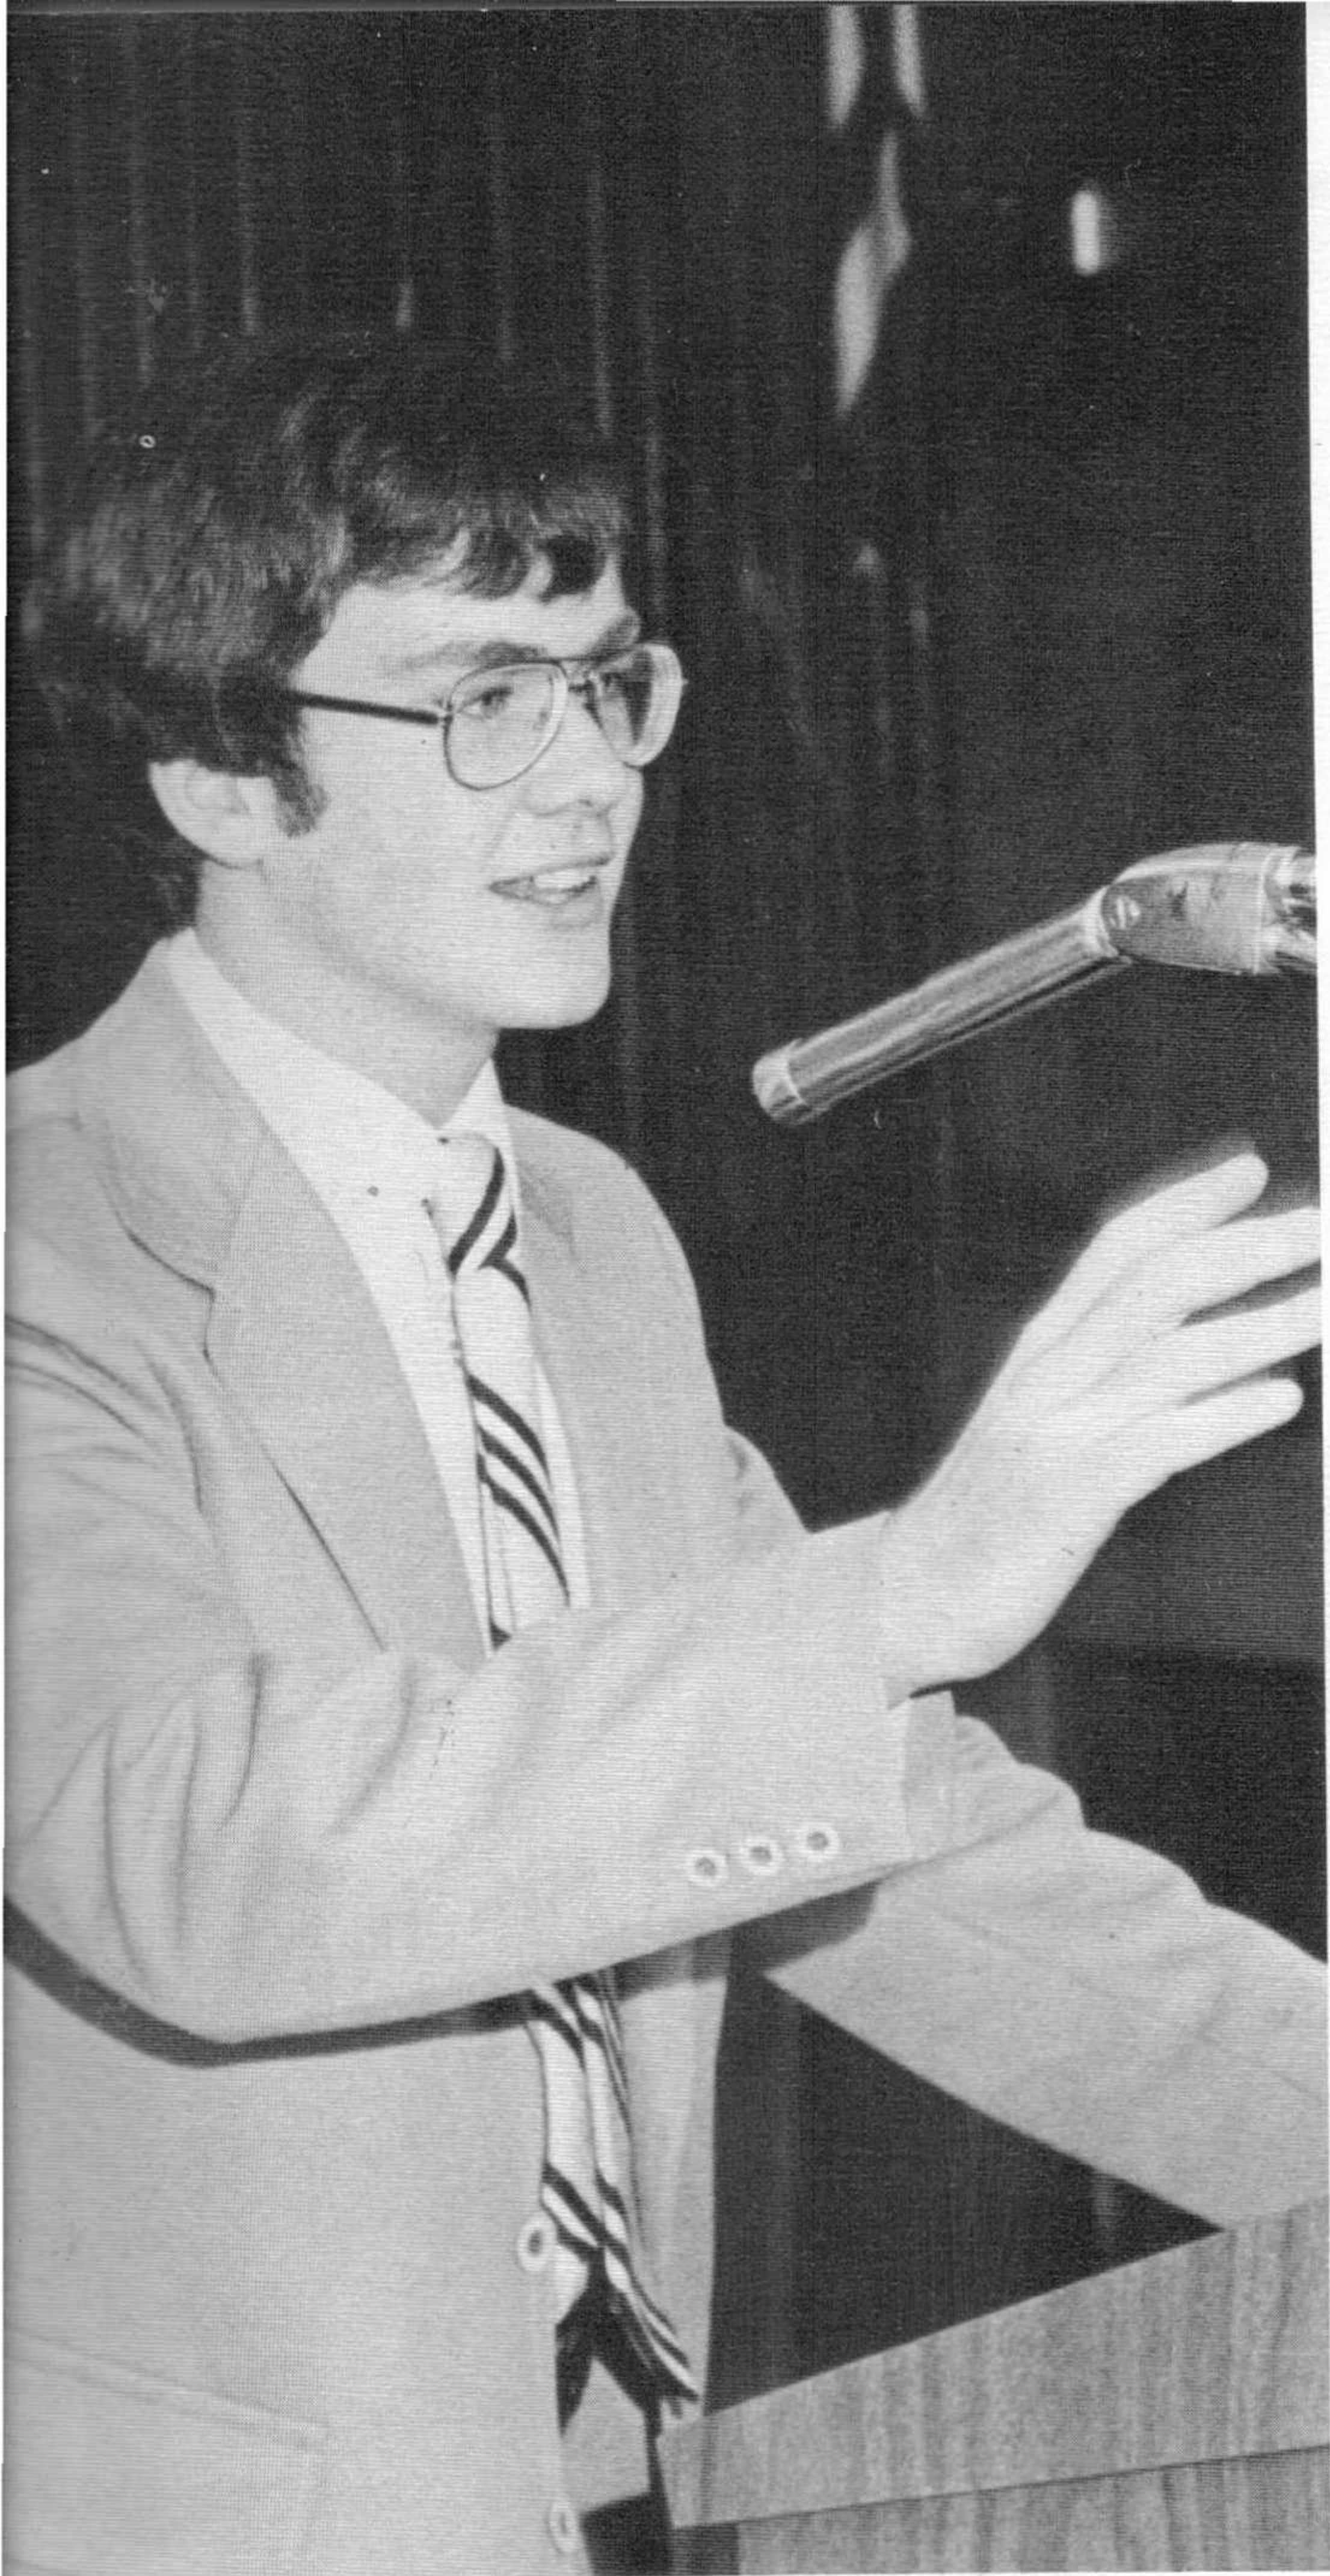

The class of 77 backed up the class play "Celebration." The Cotillion, held in December, was the most successful of any since the revival of the dance a few years ago. The Hundred Days Dance was also a success.

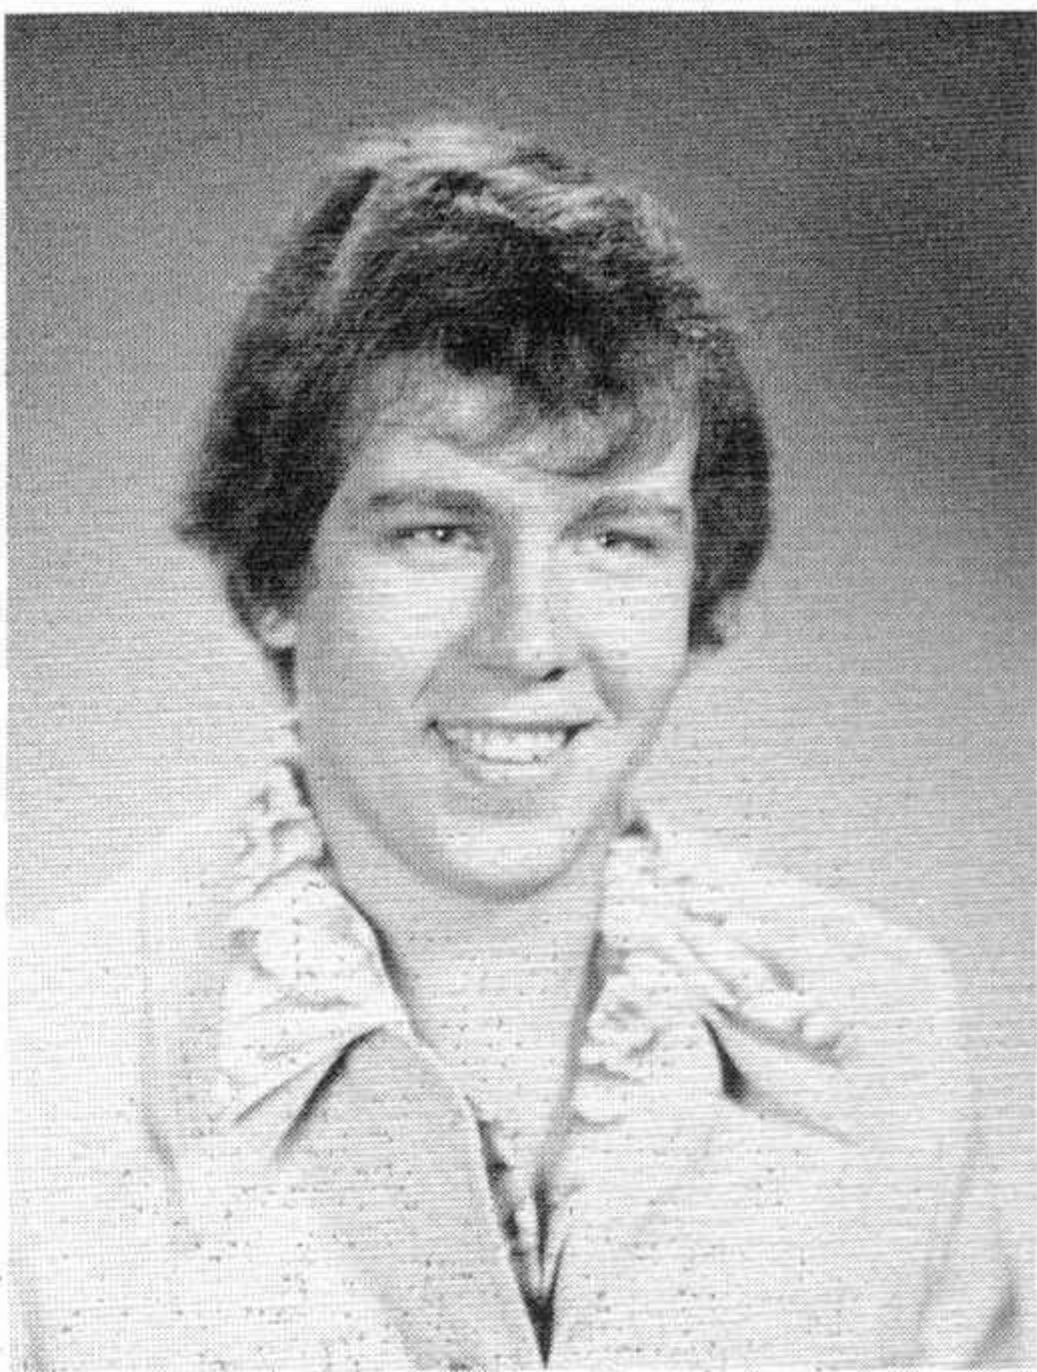

The main problem with this class was collecting dues. The class never had enough money in the treasury and Senior Week was not paid for until almost the end of the year despite the fact that every event was a financial success.

Maureen Dunn, VP, wanted to be elected because she felt that the class was not informed on important events. Although she said that she learned that, "You can't get people involved if they don't want to be," she did succeed in publicizing meetings so that more interested people could attend. There were always just enough people to make every event a success.

As Paul summed it up, "Our major success was in providing a variety of activities." He expressed thanks to Maureen and the other class officers. "We couldn't have done it without them," said Paul; and to the class in general said, "It's been fun!" Maureen added, "We've enjoyed it."

1977

Fashions and styles change very rapidly in this world of ours, and I daresay that we went through countless fashions and fads during our brief three years here at NHS. It almost seemed as if we developed our own special language while we were here. We hung around at some unforgettable places and experienced some fantastic times; we should remember these special times and hopefully this section will bring special memories in the years to come.

1977

In addition to school, outside work was a necessity for many of us. For some, a job meant keeping a car on the road. For others work meant a college education. Many times work meant foregoing parties and beach trips, but it did come first.

Fashions were a large part of "76" and "77." The attire of most was casual and Levis were in all most everyone's wardrobe. When the girls dressed up they wore vests and gauchos with boots or clogs. The guys, during the winter season, had a lot of class because of their three-piece suits.

Fads such as book bags, monogrammed T-shirts, down vests and cutting your hair made a big hit throughout the school.

The 1977 school year saw changes and unique occurrences that affected all levels of our society. Here, at NHS, many of us finally became "legal." In town, the Bacon School, which housed so many of our memories and the name of which was an important part of many of our jokes and expressions, was torn down.

New England weather broke all kinds of records. Some of the lowest temperatures in history were recorded this winter, while some of the highest temperatures were recorded this spring. On May 4, we were hit with a violent snowstorm which dumped eight inches of the cold white stuff upon us. That resulted in two more snow days! Many residents of the town, among the worst hit in the state, were without power for days.

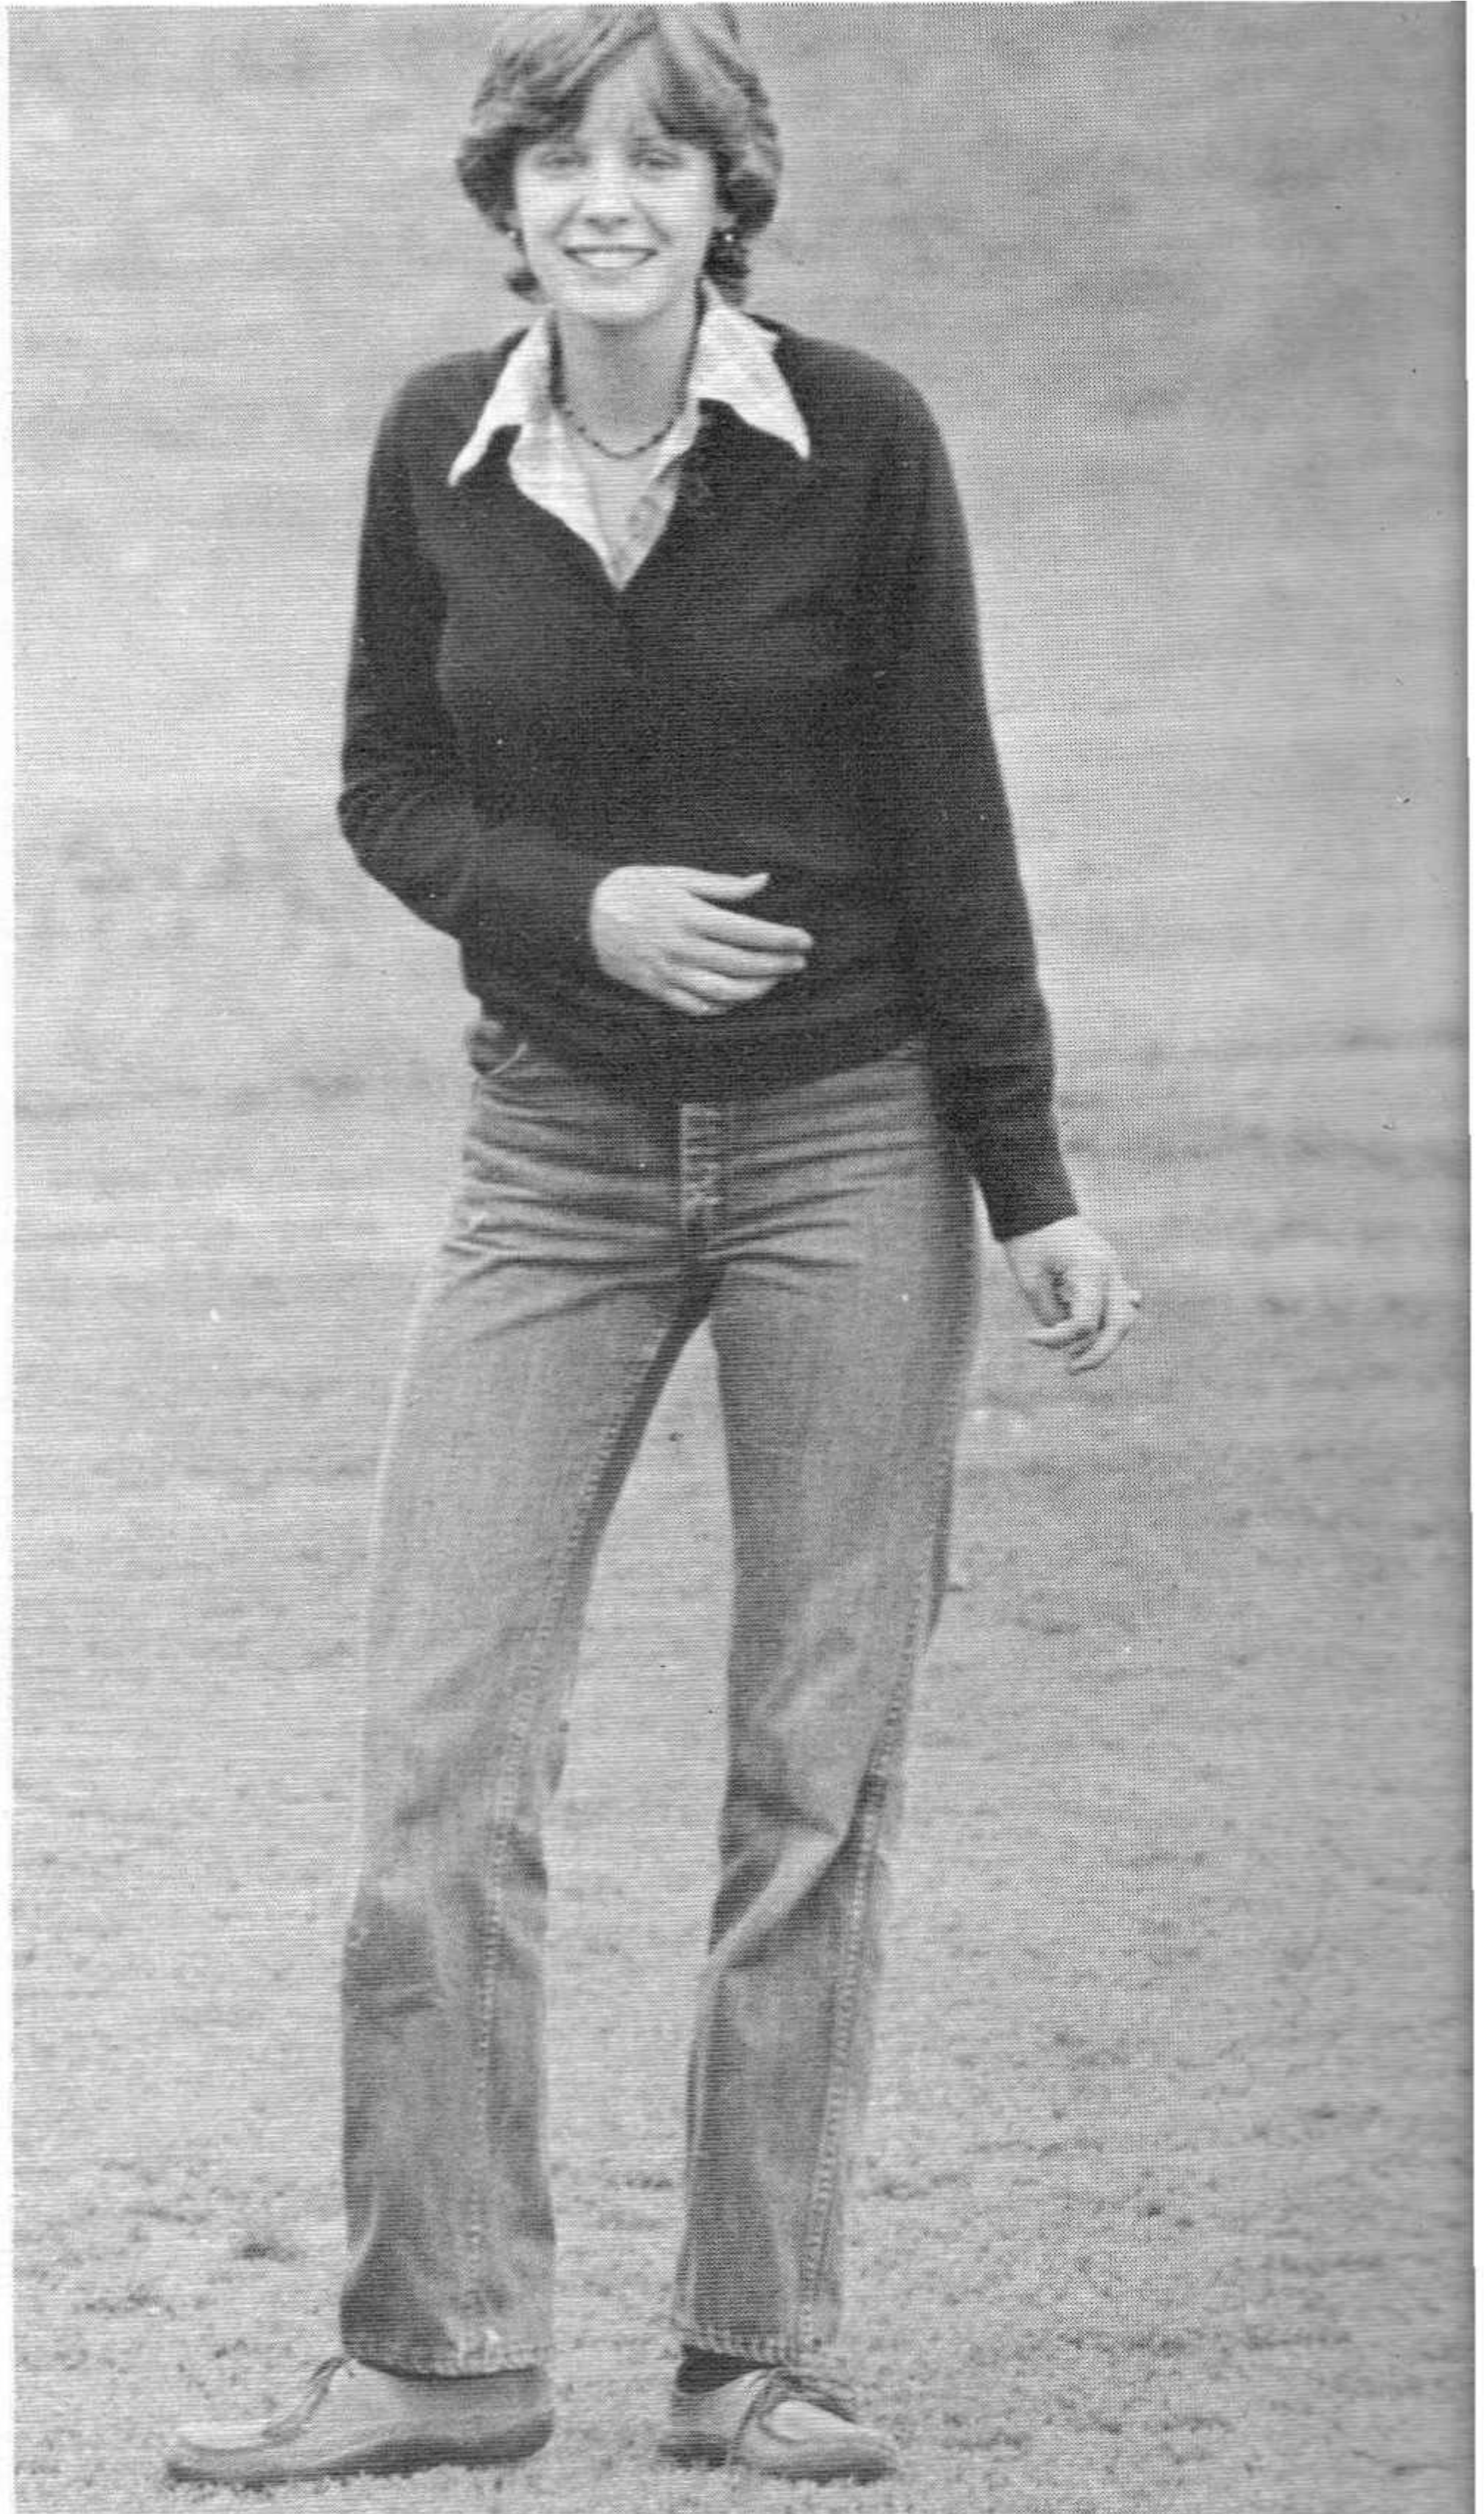

Senior week was a very special time for all who participated in the activities. Tuesday the class picnic was held; the following day was the banquet where the yearbook was dedicated and entertainment was provided. Thursday was class day; on this day students received awards and scholarships for their achievements. Friday night was the big event of the week; the prom. Sunday was graduation. All in all it was a memorable week in our lives.

The rain couldn't dampen the spirit of the Class of 1977 as Senior Week got off to a wet start. A game of softball, frisbee playing, and plenty of eating of hamburgers and hot dogs took place before the picnic moved inside. Once inside the seniors took advantage of the volleyball, basketball, and ping-pong in the gyms. Plenty of whist games were played in the cafeteria. The rain didn't stop the parties afterward either as Senior Week began in style.

CLASS DAY

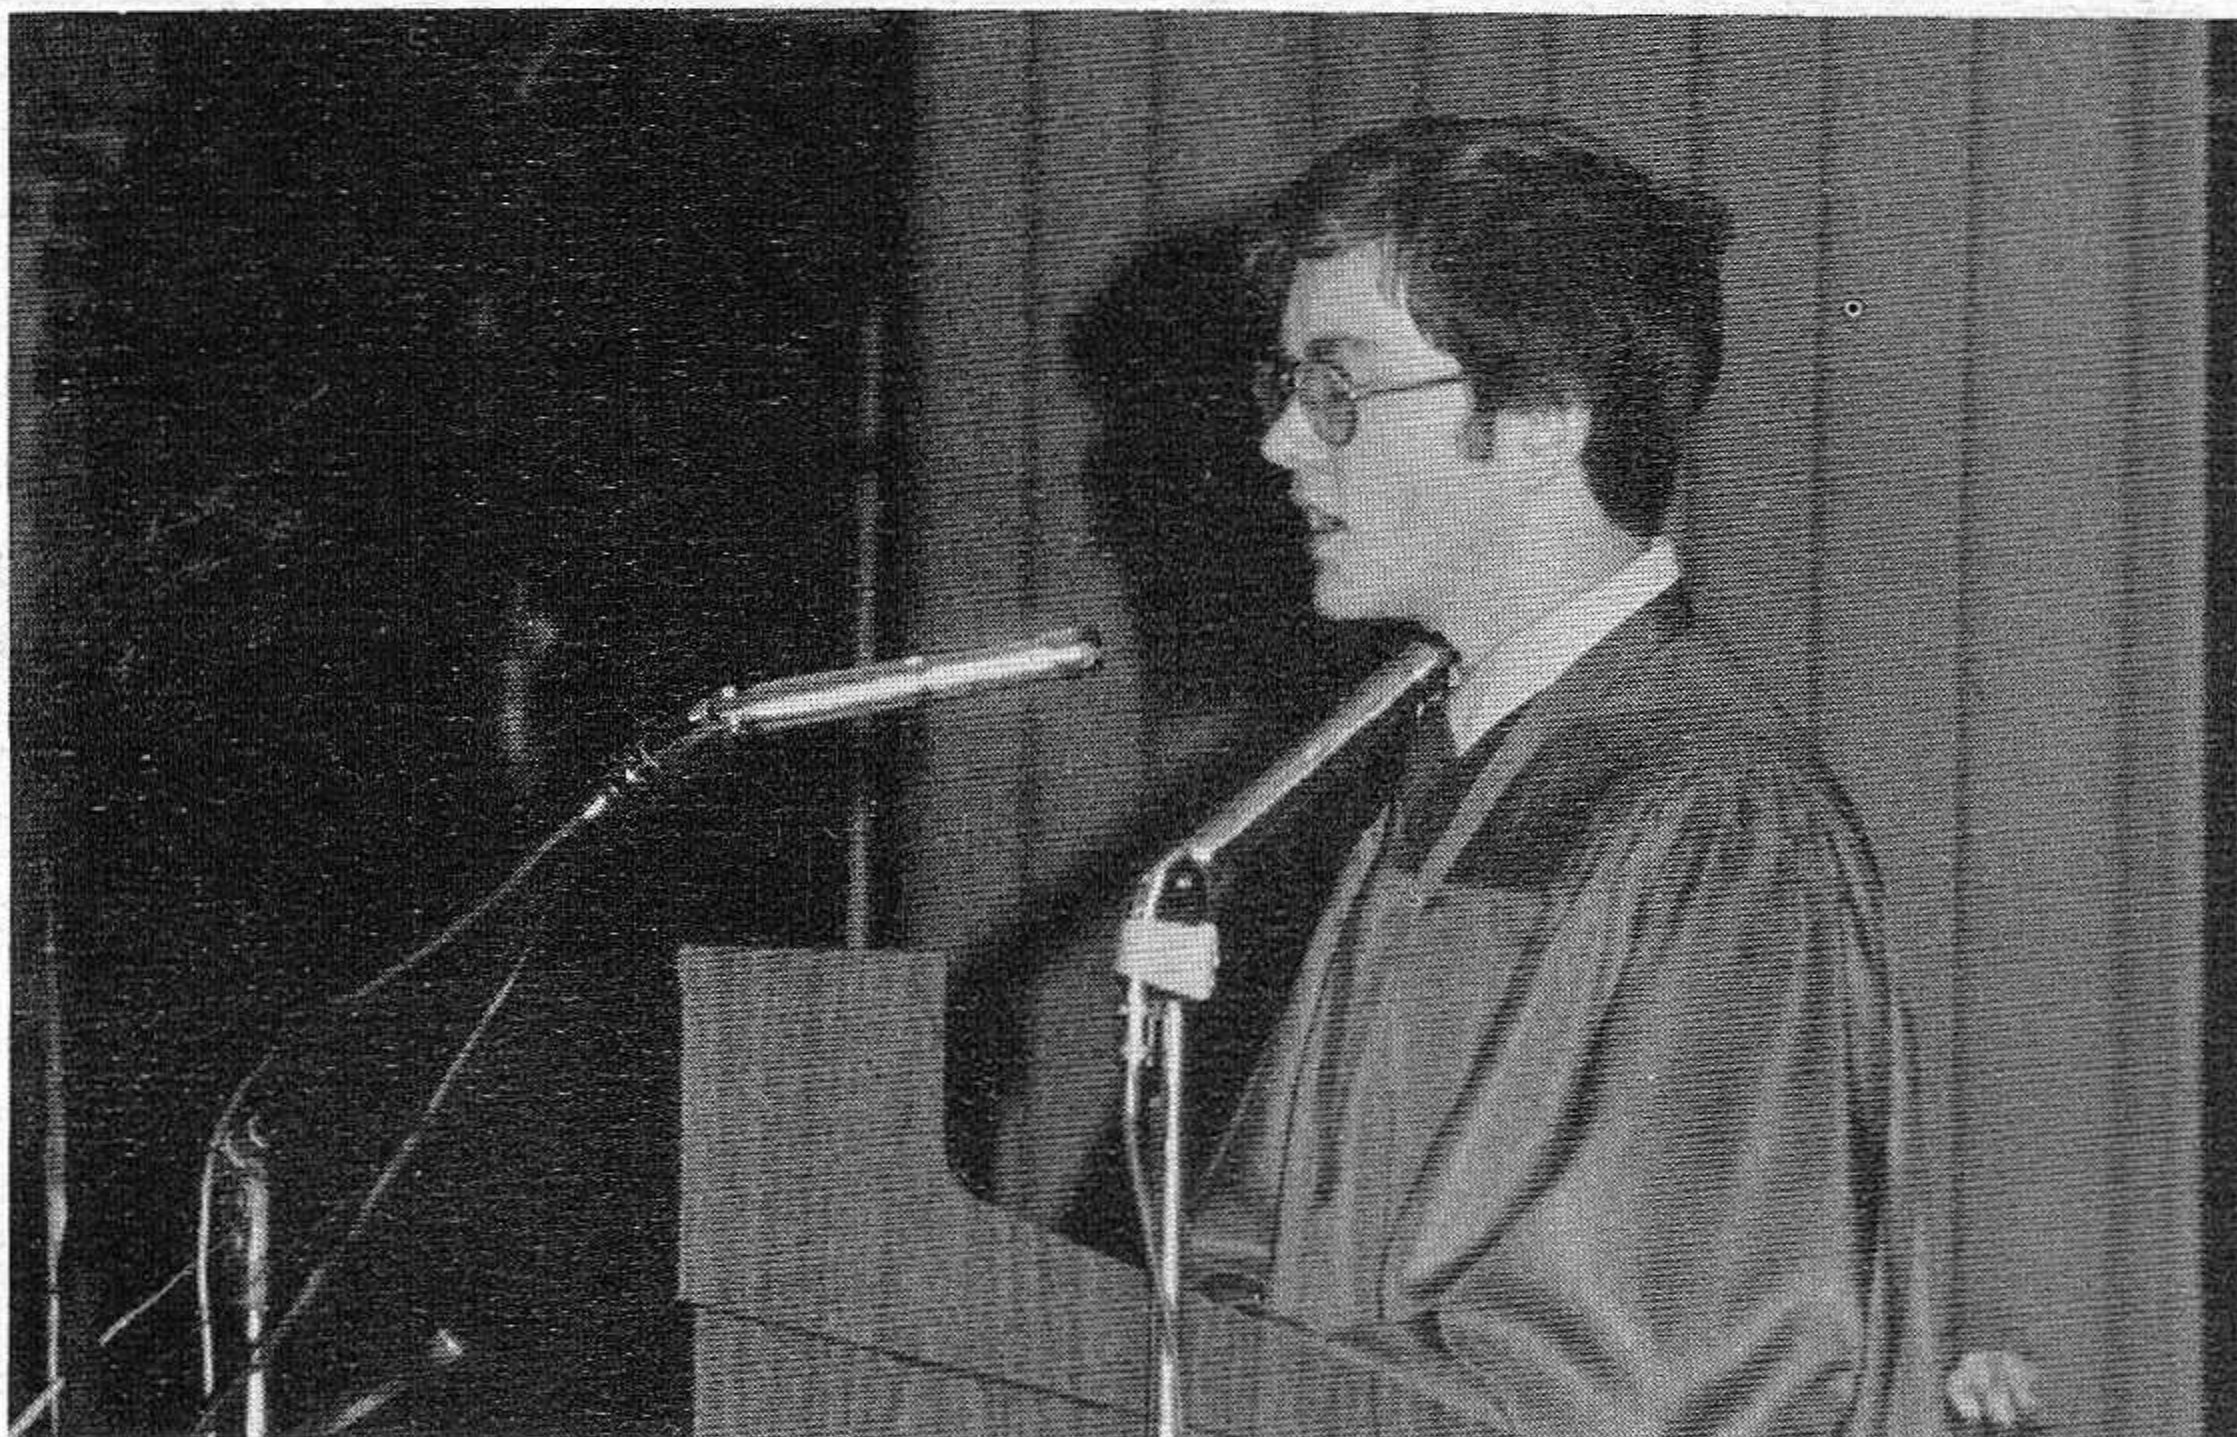

Class Day, Thursday, June 9, was very special for the Class of 1977. Fifty-four seniors were awarded scholarships and awards for their outstanding performances in various areas of interest while at Natick High. The Class History was read, the Class Gift to the school was presented the flags were exchanged with the AFS student. Parents and friends gathered in the inner courtyard for a reception after the ceremony.

"Yesterday"

Yesterday all my troubles seemed so far away.
Now it looks as though they're here to stay.
Oh, I believe in yesterday.
Suddenly, I'm not half the man I used to be.
There's a shadow hanging over me.
Oh, yesterday came suddenly.
Why she had to go, I don't know
She wouldn't say.
I said something wrong, now I long for yesterday.

Yesterday love was such an easy game to play.
Now I need a place to hide away.
Oh, I believe in yesterday.
Why she had to go I don't know,
She wouldn't say.
I said something wrong, now I long for yesterday.
Yesterday love was such an easy game to play.
Now I need a place to hide away.
Oh, I believe in yesterday.

GRADUATION

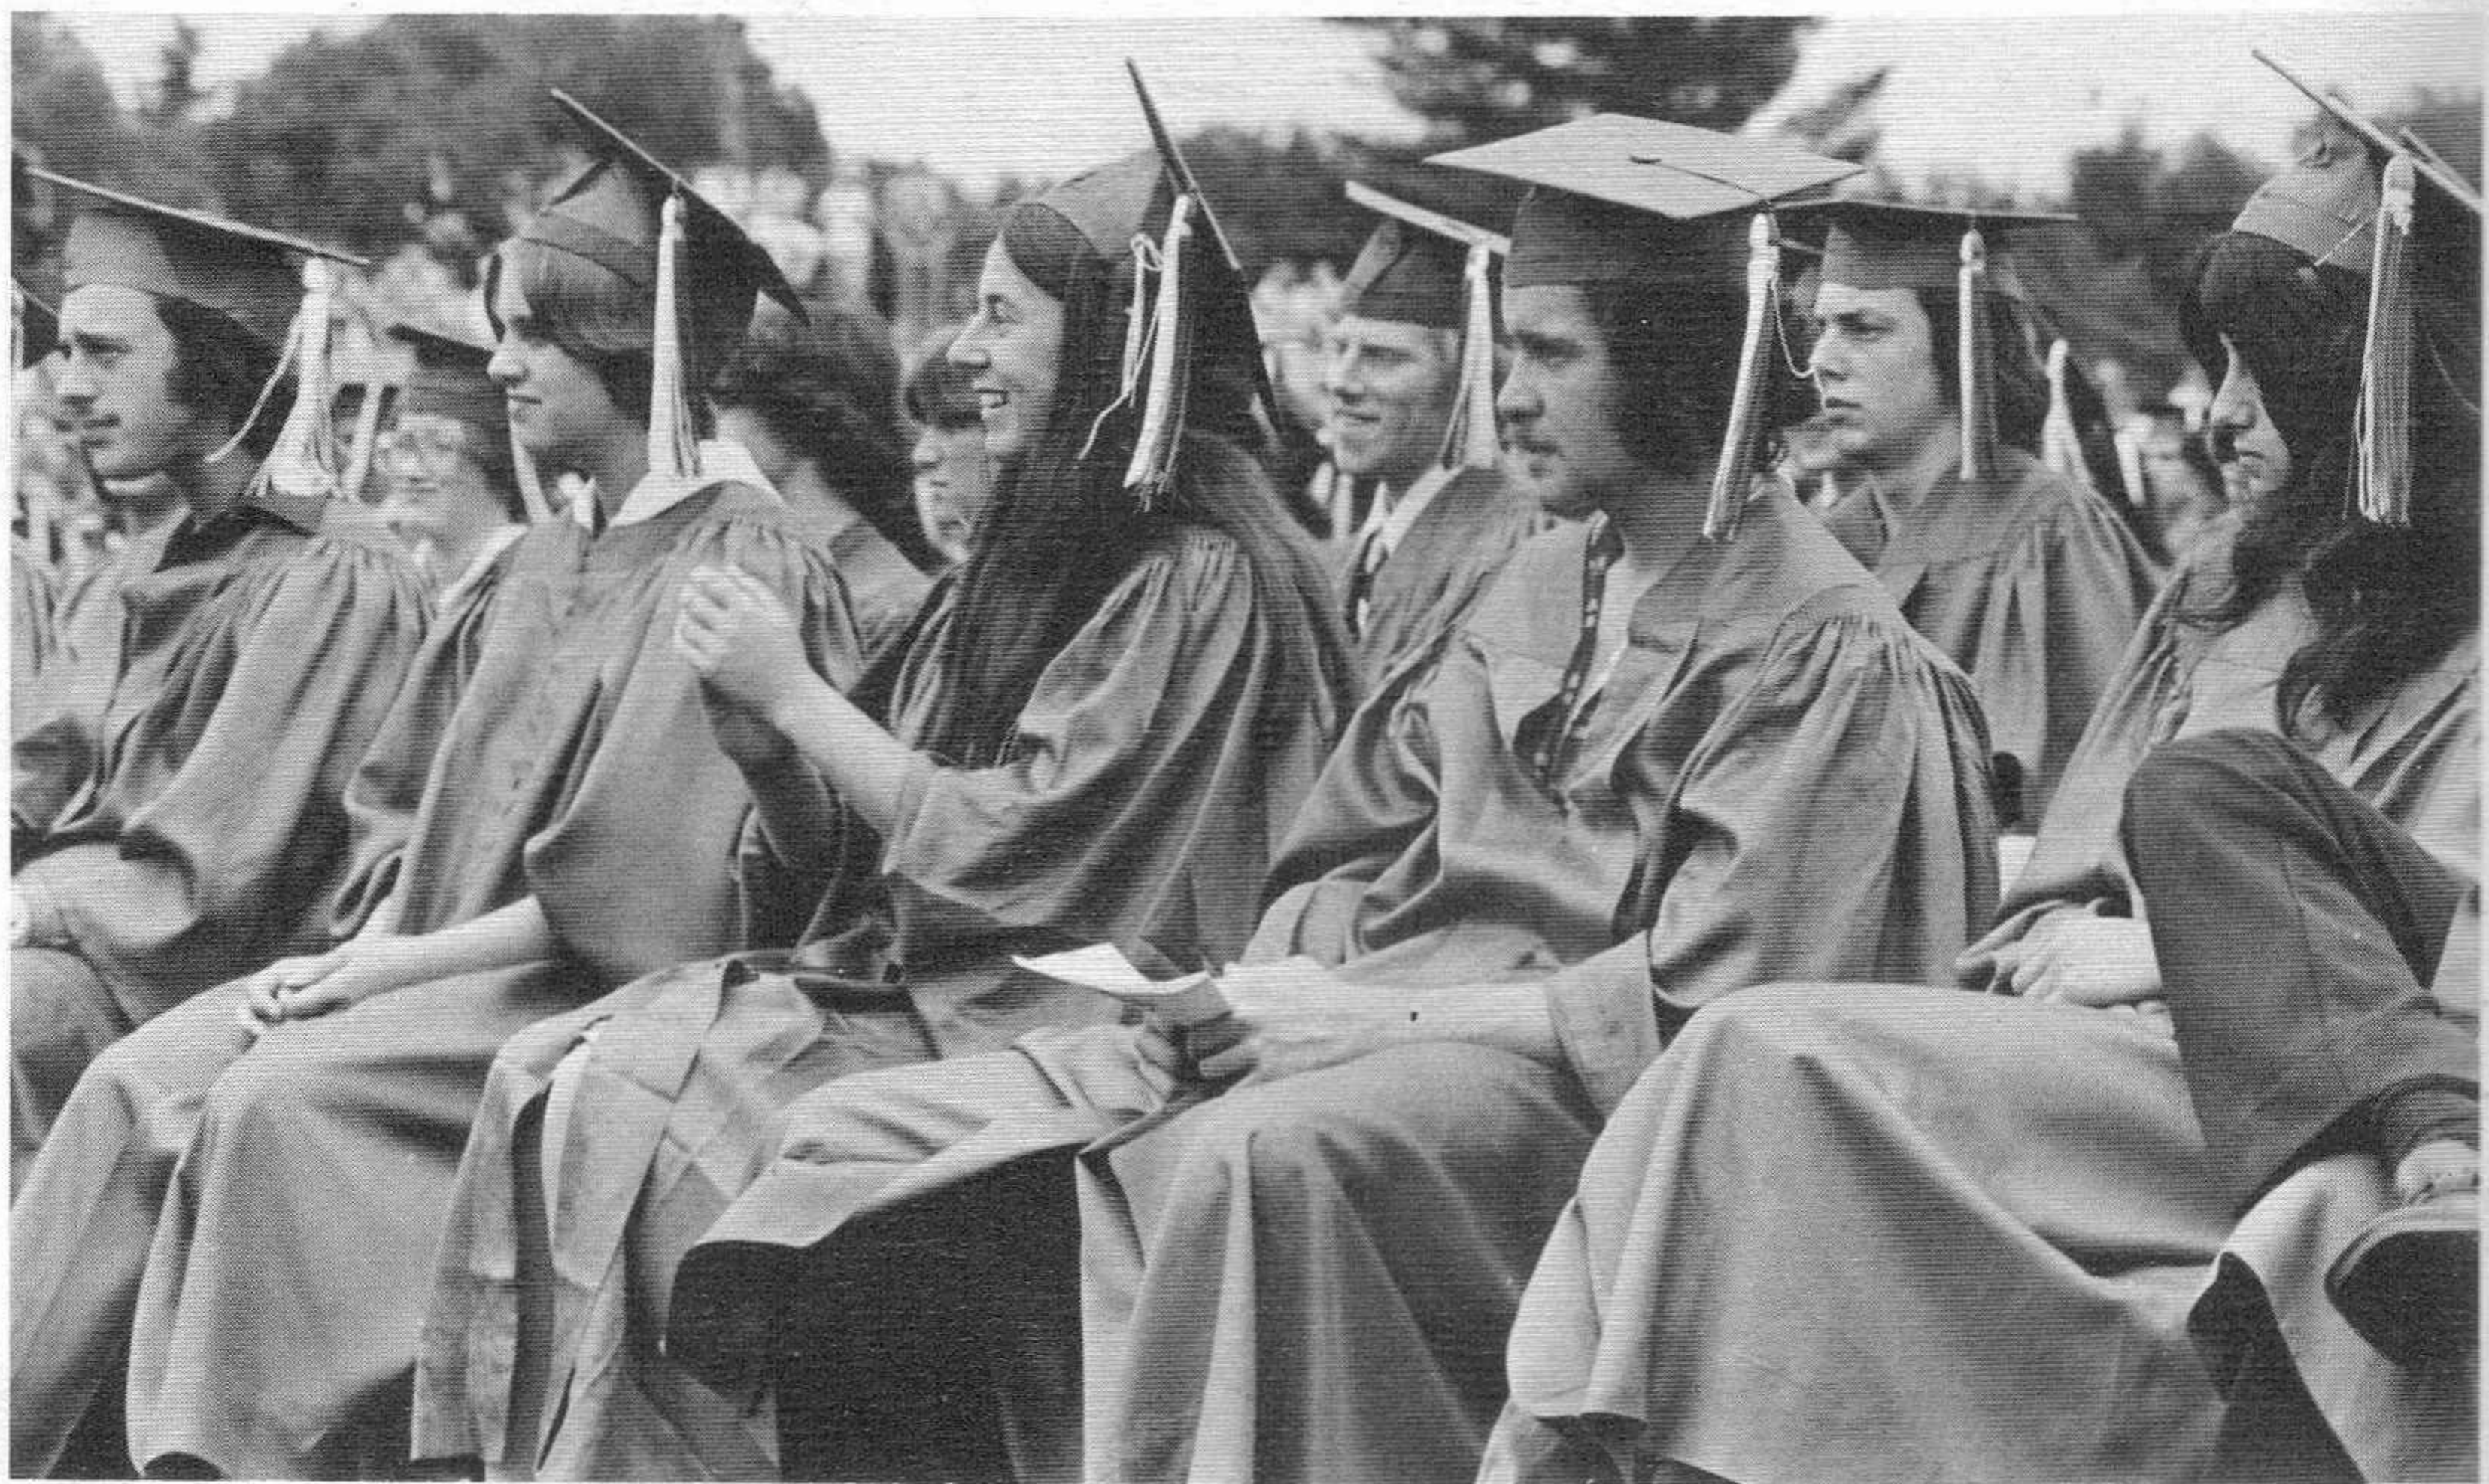

Frisbees, firecrackers, and a festive spirit were the order of the day as 540 members of the Class of 1977 received their diplomas from Natick High School. As the band started to play Pomp and Circumstance, the clouds, which had been threatening all of Senior Week, gave way to sunshine over Memorial Field.

June 12, 1977, will long be remembered as a day of happiness and sadness. Happiness in knowing that we had completed high school, sadness in leaving behind classmates whom we had grown up with.

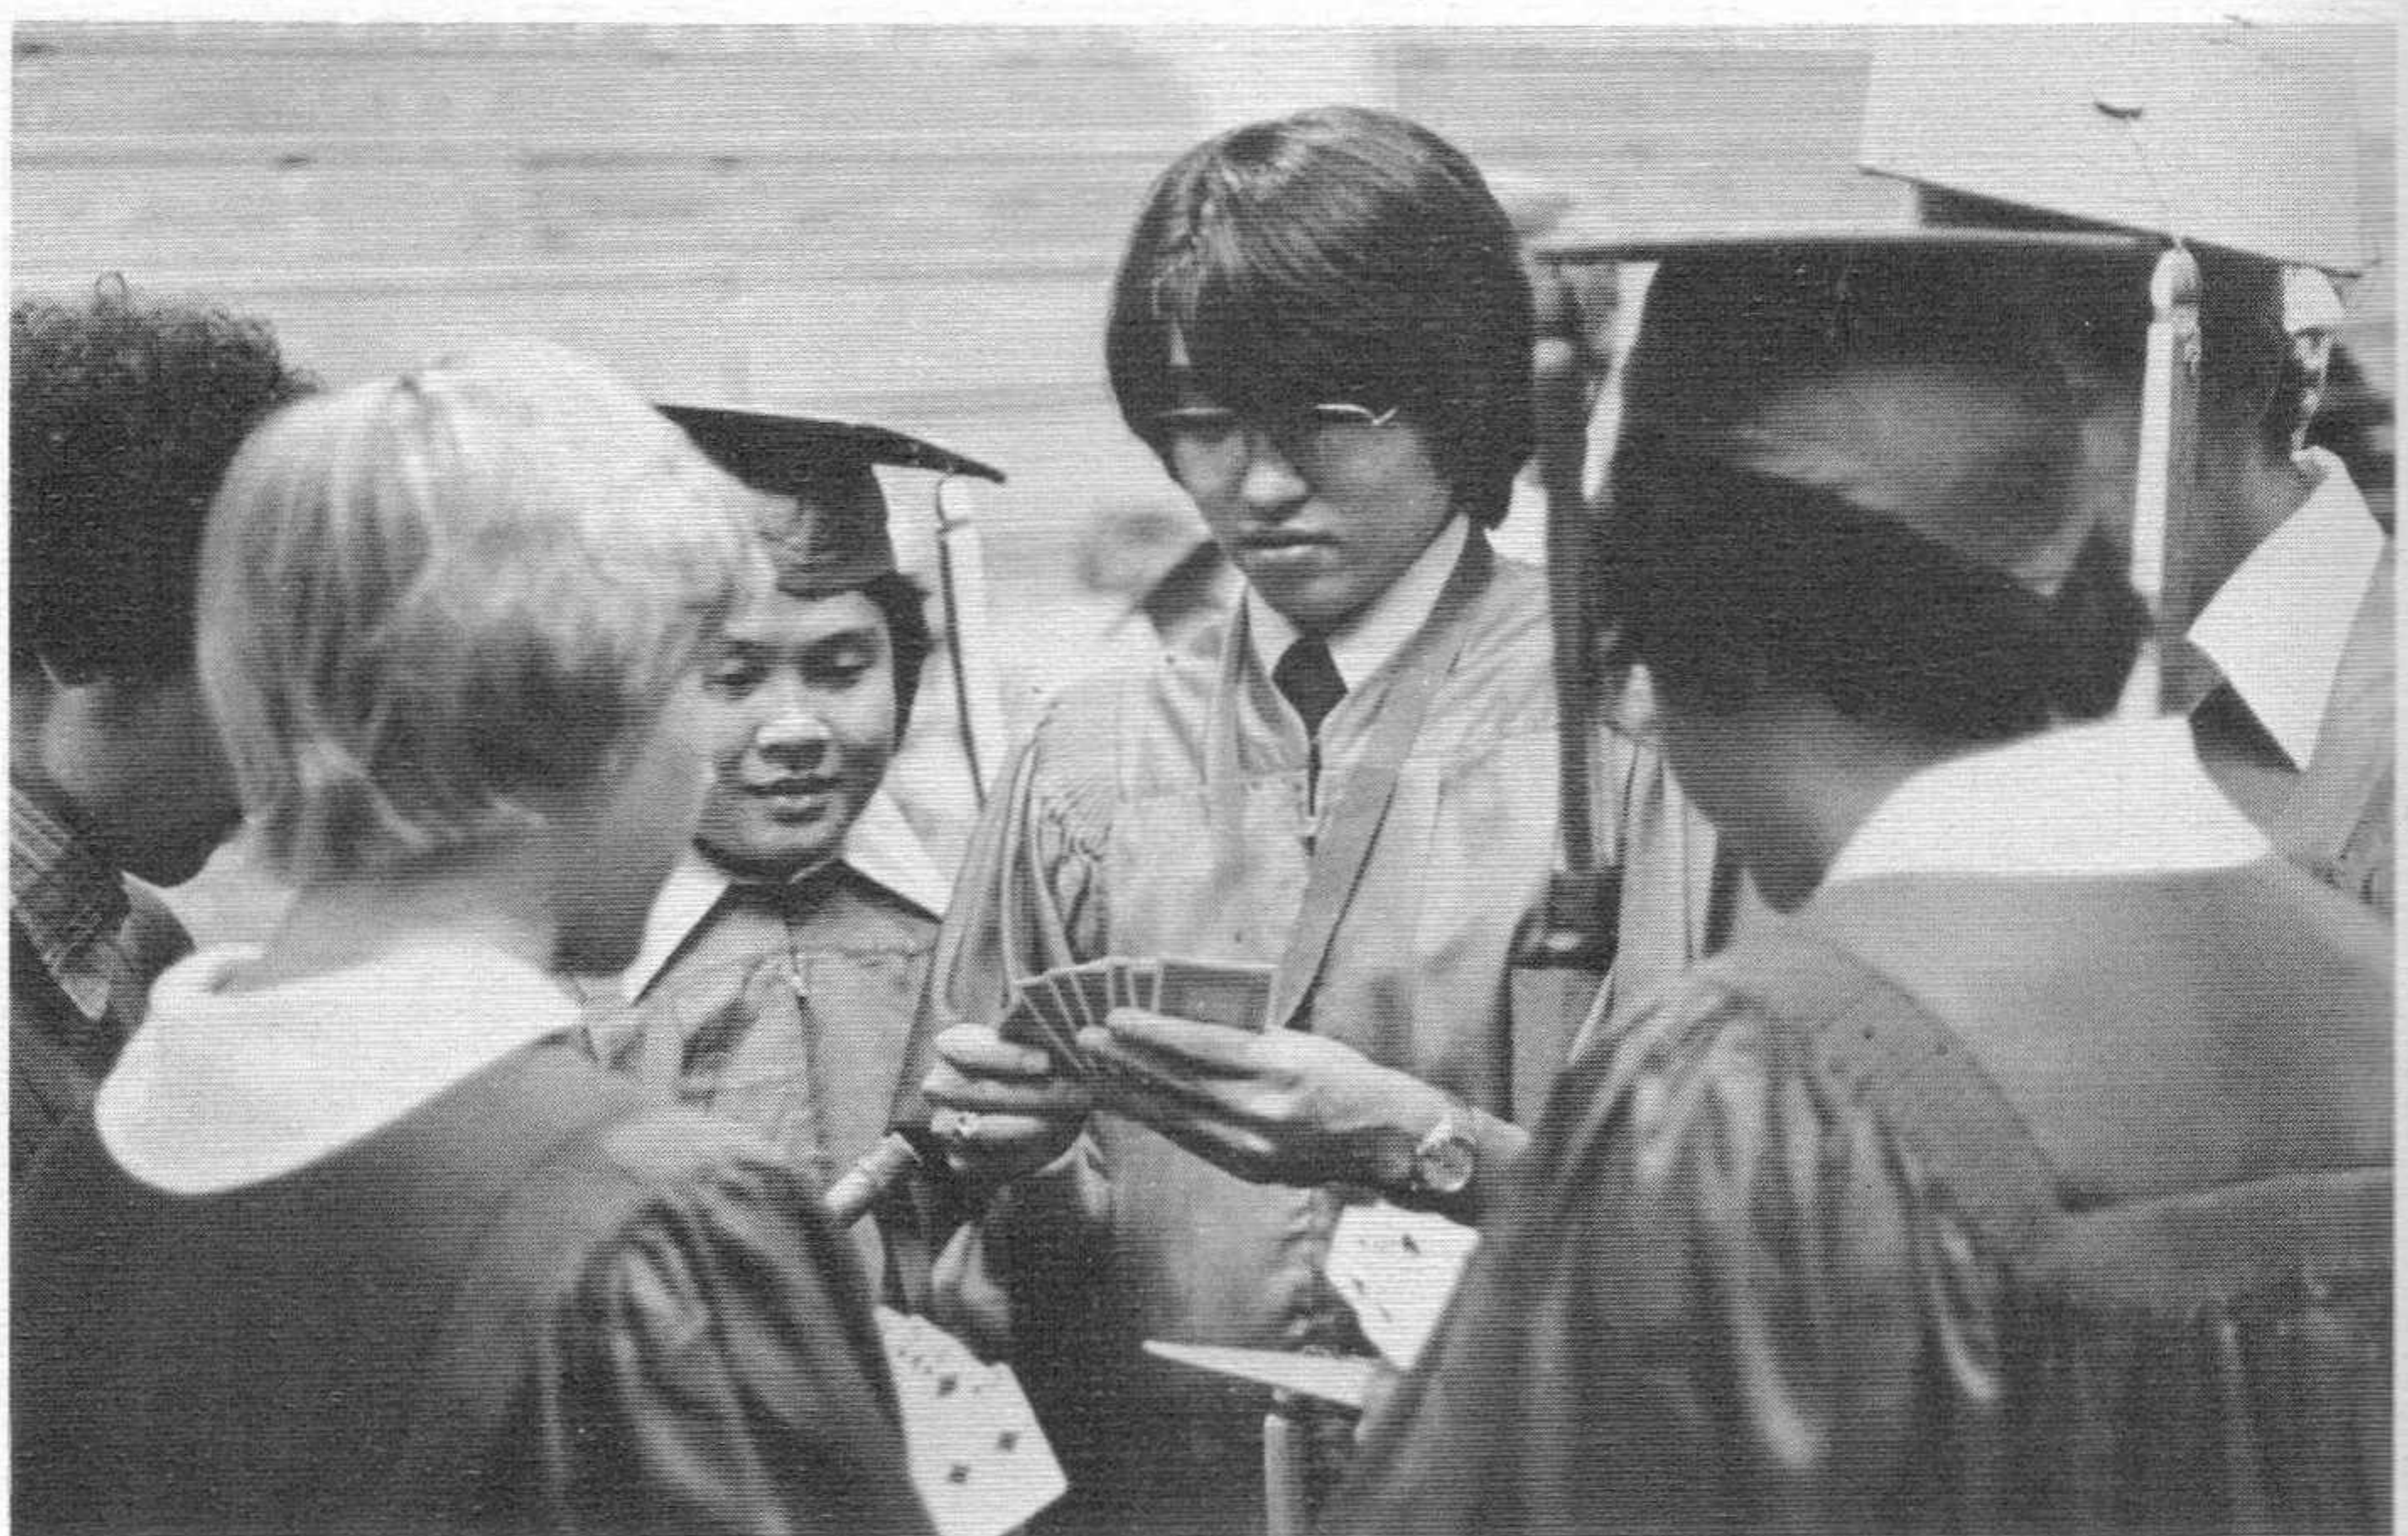

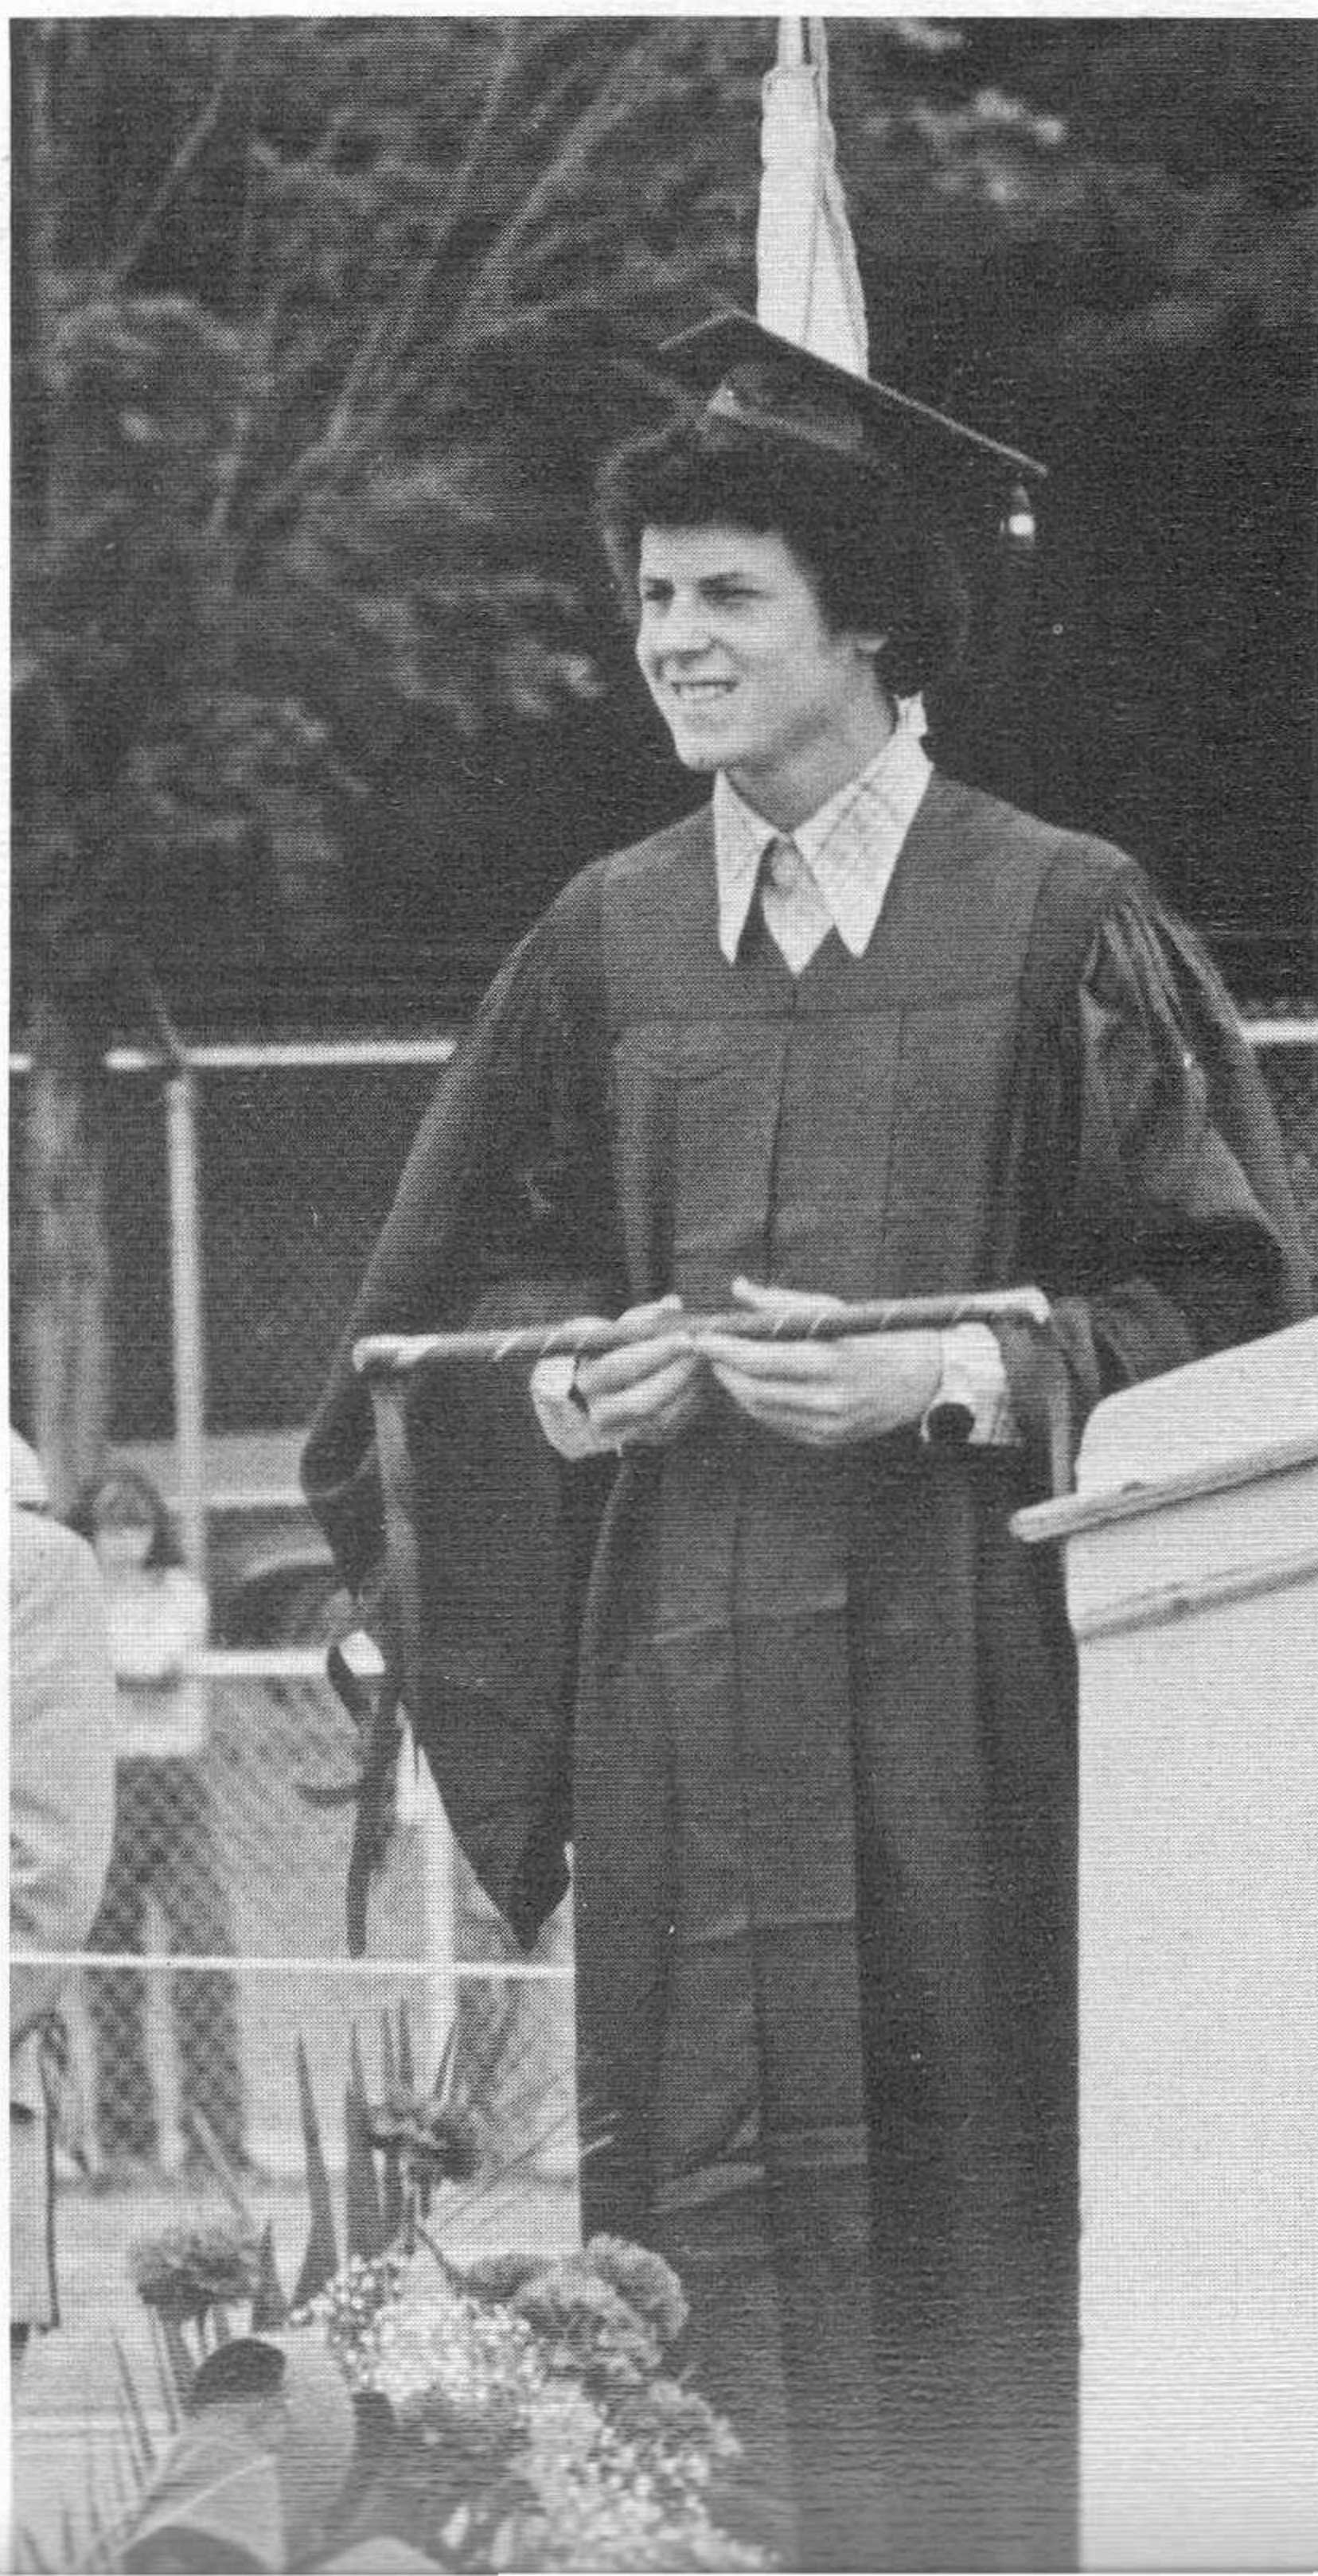

Graduation Day will be a moment that we will treasure the rest of our lives.

CLASS HISTORY

Three years ago we entered NHS; today we are here; three years hence we shall be scattered all over the globe. With help from class advisors Mrs. Mary Kowal and Mr. Richard Gaudette we have made it this far. Our first year was fairly undistinguished — we were somewhat dominated by the seniors. We did participate by cheering on the state champion football team. We also managed to elect a few class officers: Paula ABecker, president, Diane Damplo, vice-president, Sue Ehrlich, treasurer, and Alison Sherman, secretary. To help guide us through the smoking area and an exquisite junior prom at the Chateau de Ville, we once again elected Paula, Diane and Sue with Amira Rahman as the new secretary. During our senior year, while most of the class thought the school was under the guidance of Mr. Rosen and company, it was actually being run by a fine group of senior administrators:

class president Paul McGillivray, vice-president Maureen Dunn, treasurer Sue Ehrlich and secretary Amira Rahman; National Honor Society officers Roger Weaving, president, John Crisafulli, vice-president, Tracy Walker, secretary, and Nancy Castelli, treasurer; president of the Student Council, Alice Johnson; Sassamon editor Debbie Jones; and yearbook editor Tom Murray. We'd like to thank them all for they made our senior year what it had been.

Our years in Natick High saw several world-shattering events: the Soviets made a killing in the Olympics, "Roots" swallowed up all previous television ratings records, and while Jimmy Carter was taking the oath of office, someone was taking the speakers from the senior lounge. Twice.

Our class also made an attempt at improving international relations by participating in the AFS program. Last summer Ralph Letner visited Sweden, and during this year, Atsushi Kawaguchi came from Japan to visit Natick. We now feel that Atsushi is sufficiently corrupted to be able to well-represent the American way of life back home.

There were many sports teams at Natick High with winning records this year: girls' gymnastics, hockey, football, baseball, boys' and girls' swimming, and boys' and girls' track. All-Scholastic honors were earned by Sue Ehrlich for swimming, second-team all-scholastic by Tom Murray for hockey, and honorable mention by Jay Yancey in football. Congratulations to them all to all the teams and athletes who made superb efforts, but never-the-less came up short — especially the soccer team with its perfect record.

Our senior year was not only plagued with successes, however. The snow sculpture contest was so successful that students returning from February vacation wondered how they'd ever fit into the inner courtyard with all those sculptures taking up space. The '50's dance became the first and probably last dance to be held in a snowstorm. Such a throng of people rushed the Spaghetti Dinner that the sponsors were overwhelmed. The group that threw the whist party found it was in possession of twice as many checks as of patrons. And a certain dues drive is still hunting for money. The names of the sponsors of these classic showings have been omitted so that in years to come everyone can look back and say, "It wasn't my fault!".

Many seniors distinguished themselves in a positive manner. Bowler Kathy Bennett and multi-talented Ed Jacobs made television appearance. Our Boys' State representatives were John Crisafulli and Paul McGillivray, while Wendy Wilson went to Girls' State. Cindy Carpenter was the recipient of the DAR Good Citizen Award. Mary Lou Greenwood won the Jewish War Veterans Award. The John Hancock business award went to both Debbie Kerr and Sharon Burke. Industrial arts honors were given to Tom Carr in Structures, Bobby Friedman for Tech. Drawing, Jenny Pollak in Electricity, William O'Leary in Metalworking, and Larry Maletta and Dave LaRhette for Power Mechanics. Gary Rodman became a National Merit Scholar. Ann Surman won the NCTE writing competition in Massachusetts. We had three people make the All-State Chorus: Allan Foster, Brian Higgins and Jon Rosenkranz — and one Jeanne Golan — in the All-State Orchestra. In fact, the concert choir won the state-wide competition and performed at the MMEA All-State Conference. Sassamon placed second in the Columbia Scholastic Press competition.

Mr. Taddeo also distinguished himself this year by taking over the position of resident narc, officially known as administrative intern.

The senior class play, "Celebration," was done in the planetarium. It starred Bill Sullivan, Ed Jacobs, Brian Higgins, Barbara Siegel and two fig leaves. The Drama Club's "Don't Drink the Water" was also a success.

The music department staged three very popular productions: the Candlelight Concert at Christmas, the Winter Choral Concert in March, and the third annual Pops Concert, performed in the spring. Mr. Gerald Dyer, in cooperation with student director Beth Kowal, produced "Portraits 77," a fantastic, energetic all-school musical. The show earned a well-deserved standing ovation each night.

The NHS Speech Team is famous for many things. They make long-winded, monotonous announcements, they talk to walls, and they attempt to palm off long shots on Mopeds in the spring. But more importantly, they are noted for their continuing standard of excellence that has brought them first, second, and second place in the state for the past three years. In our senior year, ten members, including seniors Diane Damplo, Paula Becker, Jon Rosenkranz and Delia Laing made national competition. Delia qualified for further national competition.

The class of 1977 found itself infested with two highly contagious preoccupations. One of these phenomena was called whist, which many thought was a requirement for becoming a senior at NHS. The other, a marked interest in apathy, was best exemplified by the "Conversational English 40's Bored of Directors' " motto, "Who Cares?!".

One of the more highly acclaimed events of our senior year was the Winter Cotillion. A record number of students came to dance and listen to the music of Jack Hahn and his orchestra. Another popular dance was the junior class' Turkey Dance, featuring The Bugs. An original idea from the senior class was that of a Hundred Days Dance, at which the entire school joined to celebrate the beginning of the end. Rumor has it that there were other successful dances.

As our senior year drew to a close, several unforgettable events occurred. One was the takeover of the inner courtyard. A lone duck descended upon the school, and within days had taken control with the aid of her nine ducklings. A few days later, Dr. Ganong modeled the new spring pie fashions. Steve Sweeney, Ralph Letner, Tom Fair, Tom Donellan and Paul Ordway provided the materials and helped him into his attire. Finally, the spring also saw the two most successful skip days in modern history, when a freak snowstorm knocked out all power in the area in early May.

But all these things are in the past now, at graduation, we have to begin looking to the future. Let's hope that as we move ahead in life we'll remember everything that happened, and everyone we knew, during our years at NHS. Good luck to all.

(Thank you, and that is all.)

THE SPEAKERS

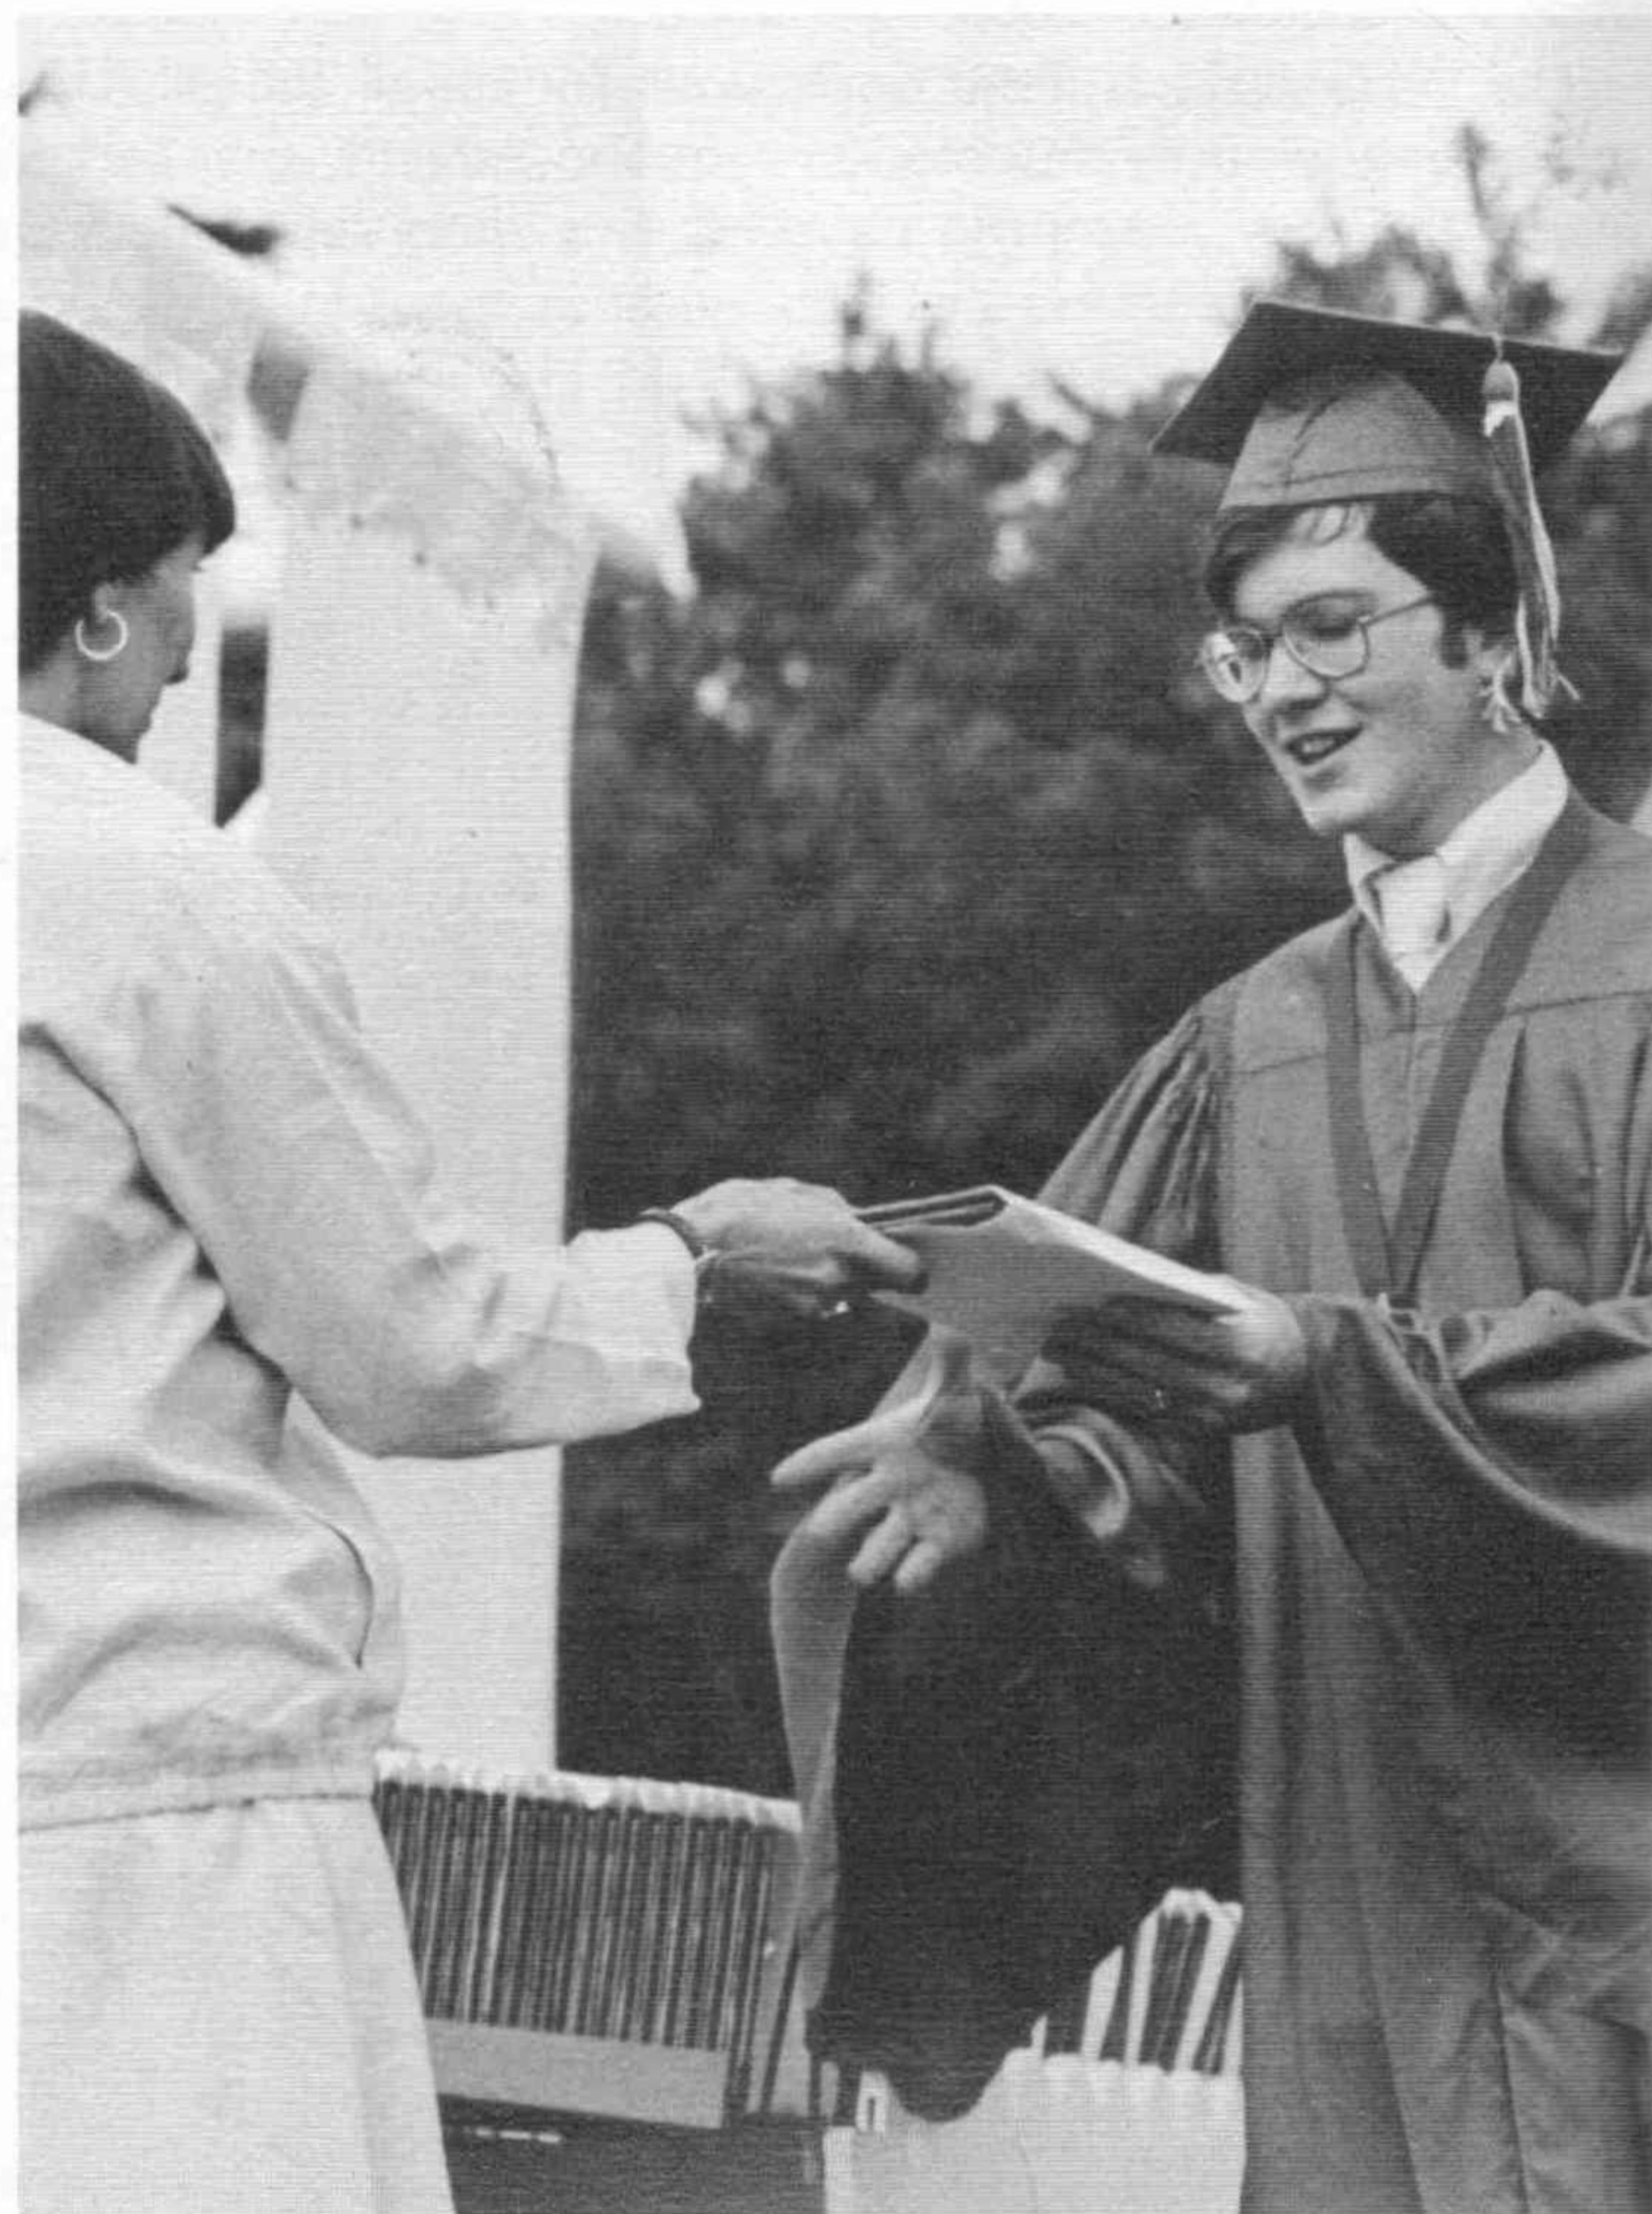

Today, as the word commencement indicates, marks a beginning. It is the beginning of a lifetime of education. The most valuable teacher does not stand in the classroom, but in each individual. It is your desire to learn, which you must maintain every day of your life, that will be your most valuable teacher.

Paul McGillivray

By encouraging and supporting a love of the arts, we can add something very special to life's routines, something that a person can always have within himself, as well as share with the rest of humanity. And public education can provide us with the opportunity to develop aesthetically, and to learn that where there is a love of the arts, there is also a love of man.

The Arts and Society
Jeanne Golan

This country may be facing a grave crisis. In recent years, groups which for decades existed on the fringes of society have, in the name of liberty, demanded the right to do as they please in the mainstream of society. Some of the claims have been legitimate. However, for each legitimate claim, dozens of frivolous and dangerous claims have arisen. What these claimants have forgotten is that with every freedom comes an increase in responsibility. We must never allow our pursuit of liberties to restrict the freedom of others. All our freedoms, and indeed our way of life, depend upon the proper exercise of liberty, for if we fail to do so, the society which preserves our freedom will surely perish.

Personal Freedom
Lloyd Levenson

CLASS WILL

We, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Seventy-Seven, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath our last Will and Testament:

The senior members of Mr. Biedryzcki's D period Physics 30 class leave next year's class with a lot of malfunctioning lab equipment.

I, Kelly-Kelly, leave the most original name here.

H period English Honors class leaves Johnny H. one family size bottle of penicillin and a case of Scotch to wash it down — Bon Appetit!

The girls of Natick High leave the boys with pleasure.

I, Jeff Fox, being of sound mind and body, leave Mr. Bransfield the derivative of fifty absences, which equals a good time.

An anonymous English 40 student leaves believing she now writes with a pen and not a shovel.

I, David Ball, leave Mrs. Wolf patience, kindness and a totally screwed up educational system.

We, the senior girls, leave the junior girls our looks because they're going to need them.

A reformed ex-cheerleader leaves one pair of pizza sox to T., a guitar pick to M., and a sub to C.

Judy and Debbie leave the new Sassamon staff with Sully and his follower.

The garage boys leave the untouchables, untouched!

Larry leaves NHS still yelling, "Shut me off!"

I, Wendy Wilson, leave Zombi and Zoof christened with their names. No thanks are necessary.

Brian Steward leaves his conga to the Jazz Ensemble to get someone with as much rhythm and soul.

We, the table of 21, leave Linda Marshall some hair, and Paul Morana some green peppers, and Tom Callahan a conehead.

I, Doug Glod, leave John Cautela all my jokes in the hope that he will someday be like Steve Martin.

I, John Cautela, leave Doug Gludinski an arrow through the head and a banjo in the hope that he will resemble Steve Martin.

Bob B. leaves his moped to Mr. Colombo.

Lush #1, Lush #2, and Lush #3 leave N.H.S. running for the Wompie Room.

Buck and Bing leave their burnouts and Heinekens to Mr. Sticklor and Mr. Collins.

Lee Schlesinger leaves Mr. Jameson still hoping for a perfect multi-media show.

Jimmy Peirce and Cindy Zatz leave Suzanne Saunders a list of those places and the best of luck.

I, Nell Franchitto, leave all my field hockey bumps and business to Lisa Firth, with a large tube of Ben-Gay and hopes for the best of luck next season.

I, Paula Weber, leave Sherry Chouinard one jar of dill pickles.

I, Paul Morana, will never leave Linda Marshall.

I, Chris, leave F period French 41 with all that quiche sans le vin.

The four of us leave what's left of the senior lounge with six slightly beat up pillows and a fractured thumb.

Creampuff leaves Steve the rights to her life.

We, Wendy, Zoof, Zong, Patti, Barb, Kelly, Lorraine, Sue, leave together knowing that friendship means everything. We also leave the N.H.S. boys wandering.

I, Marc Sutfin, leave Natick High School without graduating but a few parties happier.

Frank leaves offering landmark insurance, with double coverage for Karen.

I leave Jan with a lifetime supply of tangerine lifesavers.

We, the Sassamon editors, leave Mr. Holbrook with a fighting staff worse than ours.

Jim Kane leaves N.H.S. making a list of girls and checking it twice.

I, Bing, leave my "Z" burnouts in the parking lot to Mr. Sticklor.

We, the Competitive Speech Team, being of usual mind and body, leave to the best speech coach in the continental United States, Jerry Dyer, a generous helping of Spam.

Beth White and Diane Fay thank Mrs. Carter for all the wonderful memories even if she does tip the tables over.

The Goops leave woofing and burning.

Steve and the gang leave N.H.S. the garage, still open to visitors.

Rosemary leaves her heart and black lace boots to Hank.

Steven Potter leaves his clogs to any dolt who will wear them.

Mr. Colombo's D period senior physics class leaves him a hatchet.

Barbara leaves her tight pants to anybody who will wear them.

John Dubinsky leaves N.H.S. a flower for his flower child.

Carolyn, Donna, Eileen, and Lynn leave the duck — cold.

Witchy Woman kinda sorta leaves Bob with two tickets to "Celebration."

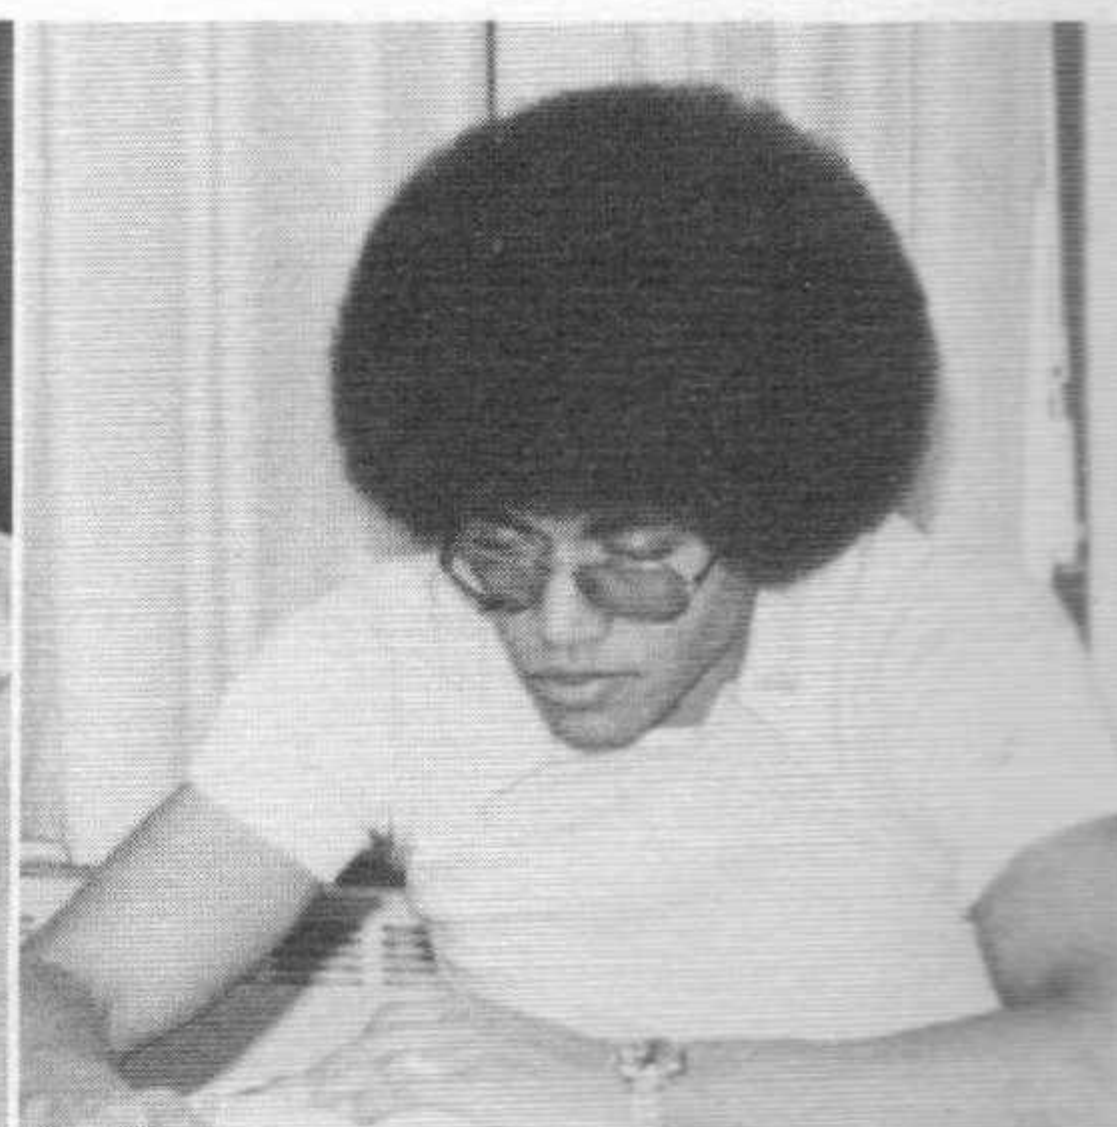

We leave Paul Morana with three empty cans of shaving cream and a dirty pool.

I, Debbie, leave Mr. Holbrook with a new pain in the neck and my "Miss Femininity" award.

To Mrs. Secunda, the H Period Whist Club leaves a deck of cards, a five bid and Jeff.

Jimmy Getchell and Karl Normington leave Snowy wading in Dug Pong.

Chris and Nanc leave Mr. Culhane their I.R. notebooks so that there may be two additional copies of all the material on the Reading List.

Patti leaves all of her leftover dignity to Irene, or to anyone else who wants to do it with dignity.

I, Nell, leave one well-traveled "El Sombrero de Tres Picos" to Miss Ciannavei.

"Before we break and run," the I.R. classes "emphatically" leave our comrade Mr. Culhane a pair of knee-high boots, change for bets, speech lessons, memories of our U.N. trip, and a 12 x 8 foot poster entitled "Once a Narc, always a Narc."

I Leave Mr. Culhane's picture on a Romanian stamp.

The B period French class leaves Mr. Gaudette waiting patiently for his Bickford's-bound students.

Each member of the F period French 41 class leaves Mr. Gaudette with a piece of hair; except la tete-de-lion, who leaves two to make up for the difference.

Larry Denaro leaves N.H.S. with Peppy and the Gang.

We, Mr. Kirton's C period Sociology II class, leave him with his final exam diagram unanswered.

We, the B period English 41 class, leave Mr. Bates one large book of trivia and an annual movie guide.

Macbeth was left here.

Cindy Carpenter, Diane Fay, and Debby Carpenter leave Mr. Bates one tape recording of 14 blasted sheep, 4 horses running, 6 sheep a-coughing, and a partridge in a pear tree.

Mr. Harrington's English 40 class leaves him a Stanley screwdriver and hopes of getting some power tools next year.

Patti, John, and Nell all leave Debby in the courtyard still trying to get her shoe.

Those who witnessed the pie throwing leave Dr. Ganong the "Good Sport if the Year" award.

The G period English class leaves Kojak, alias Dr. Ganong, two cases of Johnson's paste wax for future use.

We, Dr. Ganong's first (and last) English 40 class leave Lil' Gumma and the rest of the Board (or Bored), including Atsushi, "The Comedy of Othello" and a 500 page essay on the virtues of I.R.! We also leave you our love and thanks for being a warm, wonderful, understanding person.

Rita Mannos leaves Mrs. McLaughlin three unwritten rhapsodies, which could have been ultimately delightful.

I, Patti Untersee, leave all my good friends (for the moment) saying thanks for the good times.

Carolyn and John leave N.H.S. in an aura of cosmic vibrations.

i leave Shazam on roll of masking.

Liz leaves Wolfman Jack, never at a loss for words.

I, J.S., leave P.M. and T.P. one deck of unmarked cards.

I, Sue Ehrlich, leave with my take from the class treasury.

We, the Girls' Track Team, leave Mr. Breneman a broomstick baton, a little tom turkey, crazy Laura, two more children, and a little bit flakier than he was three years ago.

We, the E period Introductory Analysis class, leave Mr. Bransfield one box of broken pieces of Econo-dustless 202, $1.59 in cash for the styling of his hair, and a board full of his Jim Dandy equations.

We, Cheryl, Judy and Joanna leave Mr. Colombo with the feeling that after three years under his wing, we are properly prepared to go out into the cruel world without him.

We, the Sassamon News Staff, leave Debbie — Thankfully.

We, the B period Physics class leave Mr. Colombo another set of peaches.

I, the Wass, leave Mr. Crow with the sophomores, his safety glasses because it's a state law, and all the future lefties to give him a hard time.

We, the C period A&P class, leave Miss Leavitt talking about David's football skills, all of our zippos, millions of excuses for being late, and another batch of klunkies.

Rita leaves Miss Leavitt an Anconeus that lives.

I, Anne Surman, leave Miss Leavitt the song, "The Year of the Cat."

Auntie Rit leaves Miss Leavitt two tickets to P.S., Your Cat Is Dead.

Lisa and Jen leave N.H.S. behind in a cloud of dust made by the famous '68 Chevelle SS.

Lee Schlesinger leaves Natick High with an election record (0 for 7) that no one can ever beat.

We, Mrs. McLaughlin's G period English 40 class leave three empty quiet seats where Frank, Janis and Brian used to sit.

I, Paul Morana, leave Mr. Bransfield an eyebrow curler and a student to answer his phone.

I leave much appreciation to Mrs. Wolf for the hours of chemistry help that finally paid off.

Doug Glod, Lee Schlesinger and Mike Havener leave Mr. Theriaque a pommel horse that will never be used quite as well as we used it.

T. Carr leaves N.H.S. still whipped.

I, Barbara, being of sound mind and body, leave to Mr. Gerald Dyer Kennedy's children.

Brenda, Denise, and Liz leave Groucho Marx masks to the cops at the Open Hearth.

Lizzy leaves Locker Graffiti.

I leave knowing I never really told Mr. Sticklor.

We, the Spanish 41 class leave Miss Ciannavei with wonder memories of our times with Platero and best wishes for a very happy future.

We, the Class of 77, leave the ducks in the inner courtyard the lead role in the next Walt Disney Donald Duck movie.

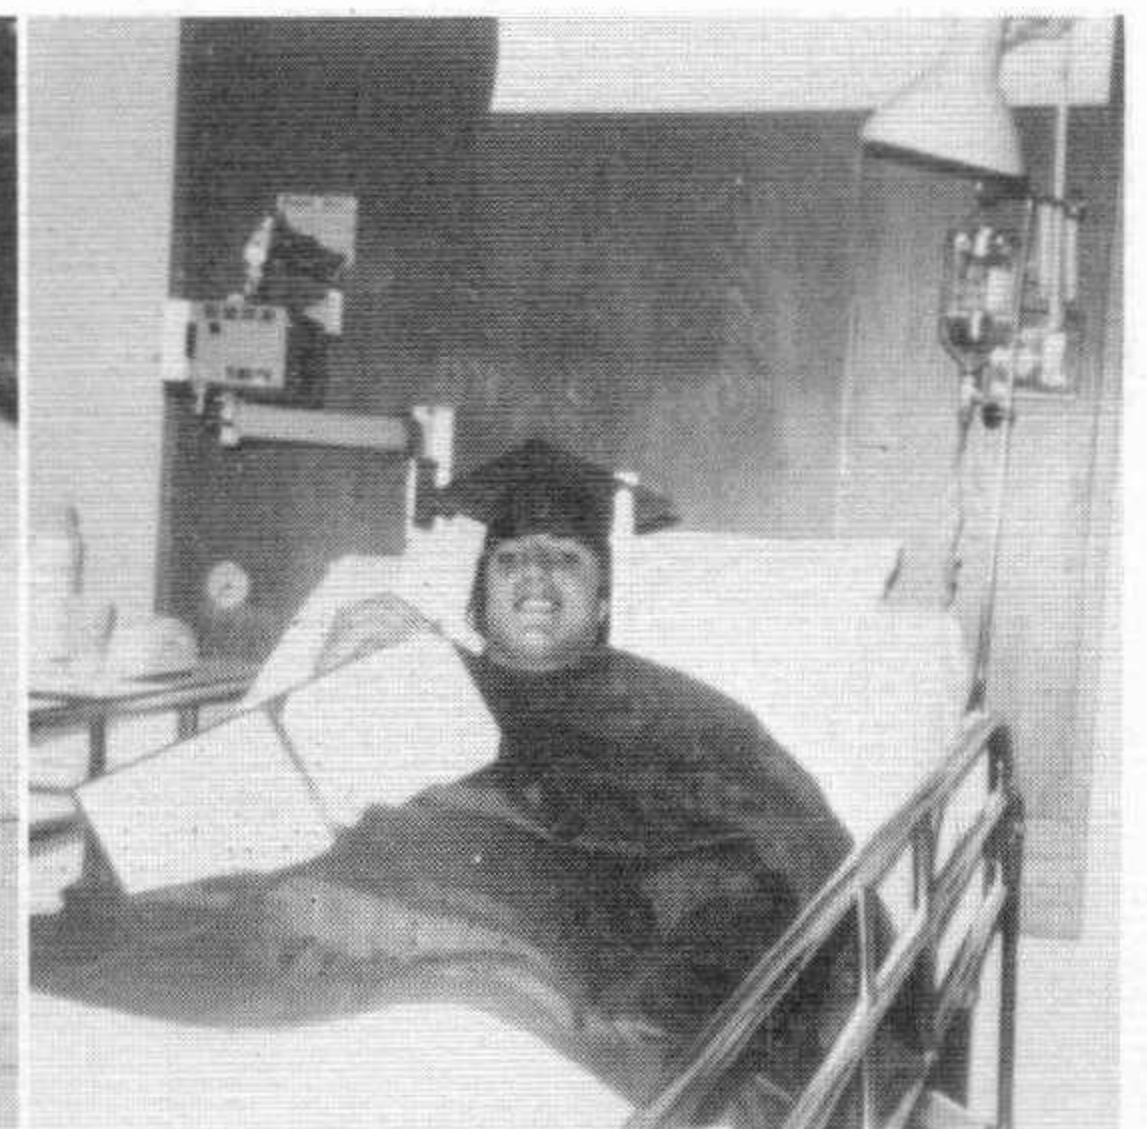

The Girls' Varsity Softball Team leaves Mrs. Maloney one dozen painted grapefruit.

The Goops leave . . . out of control.

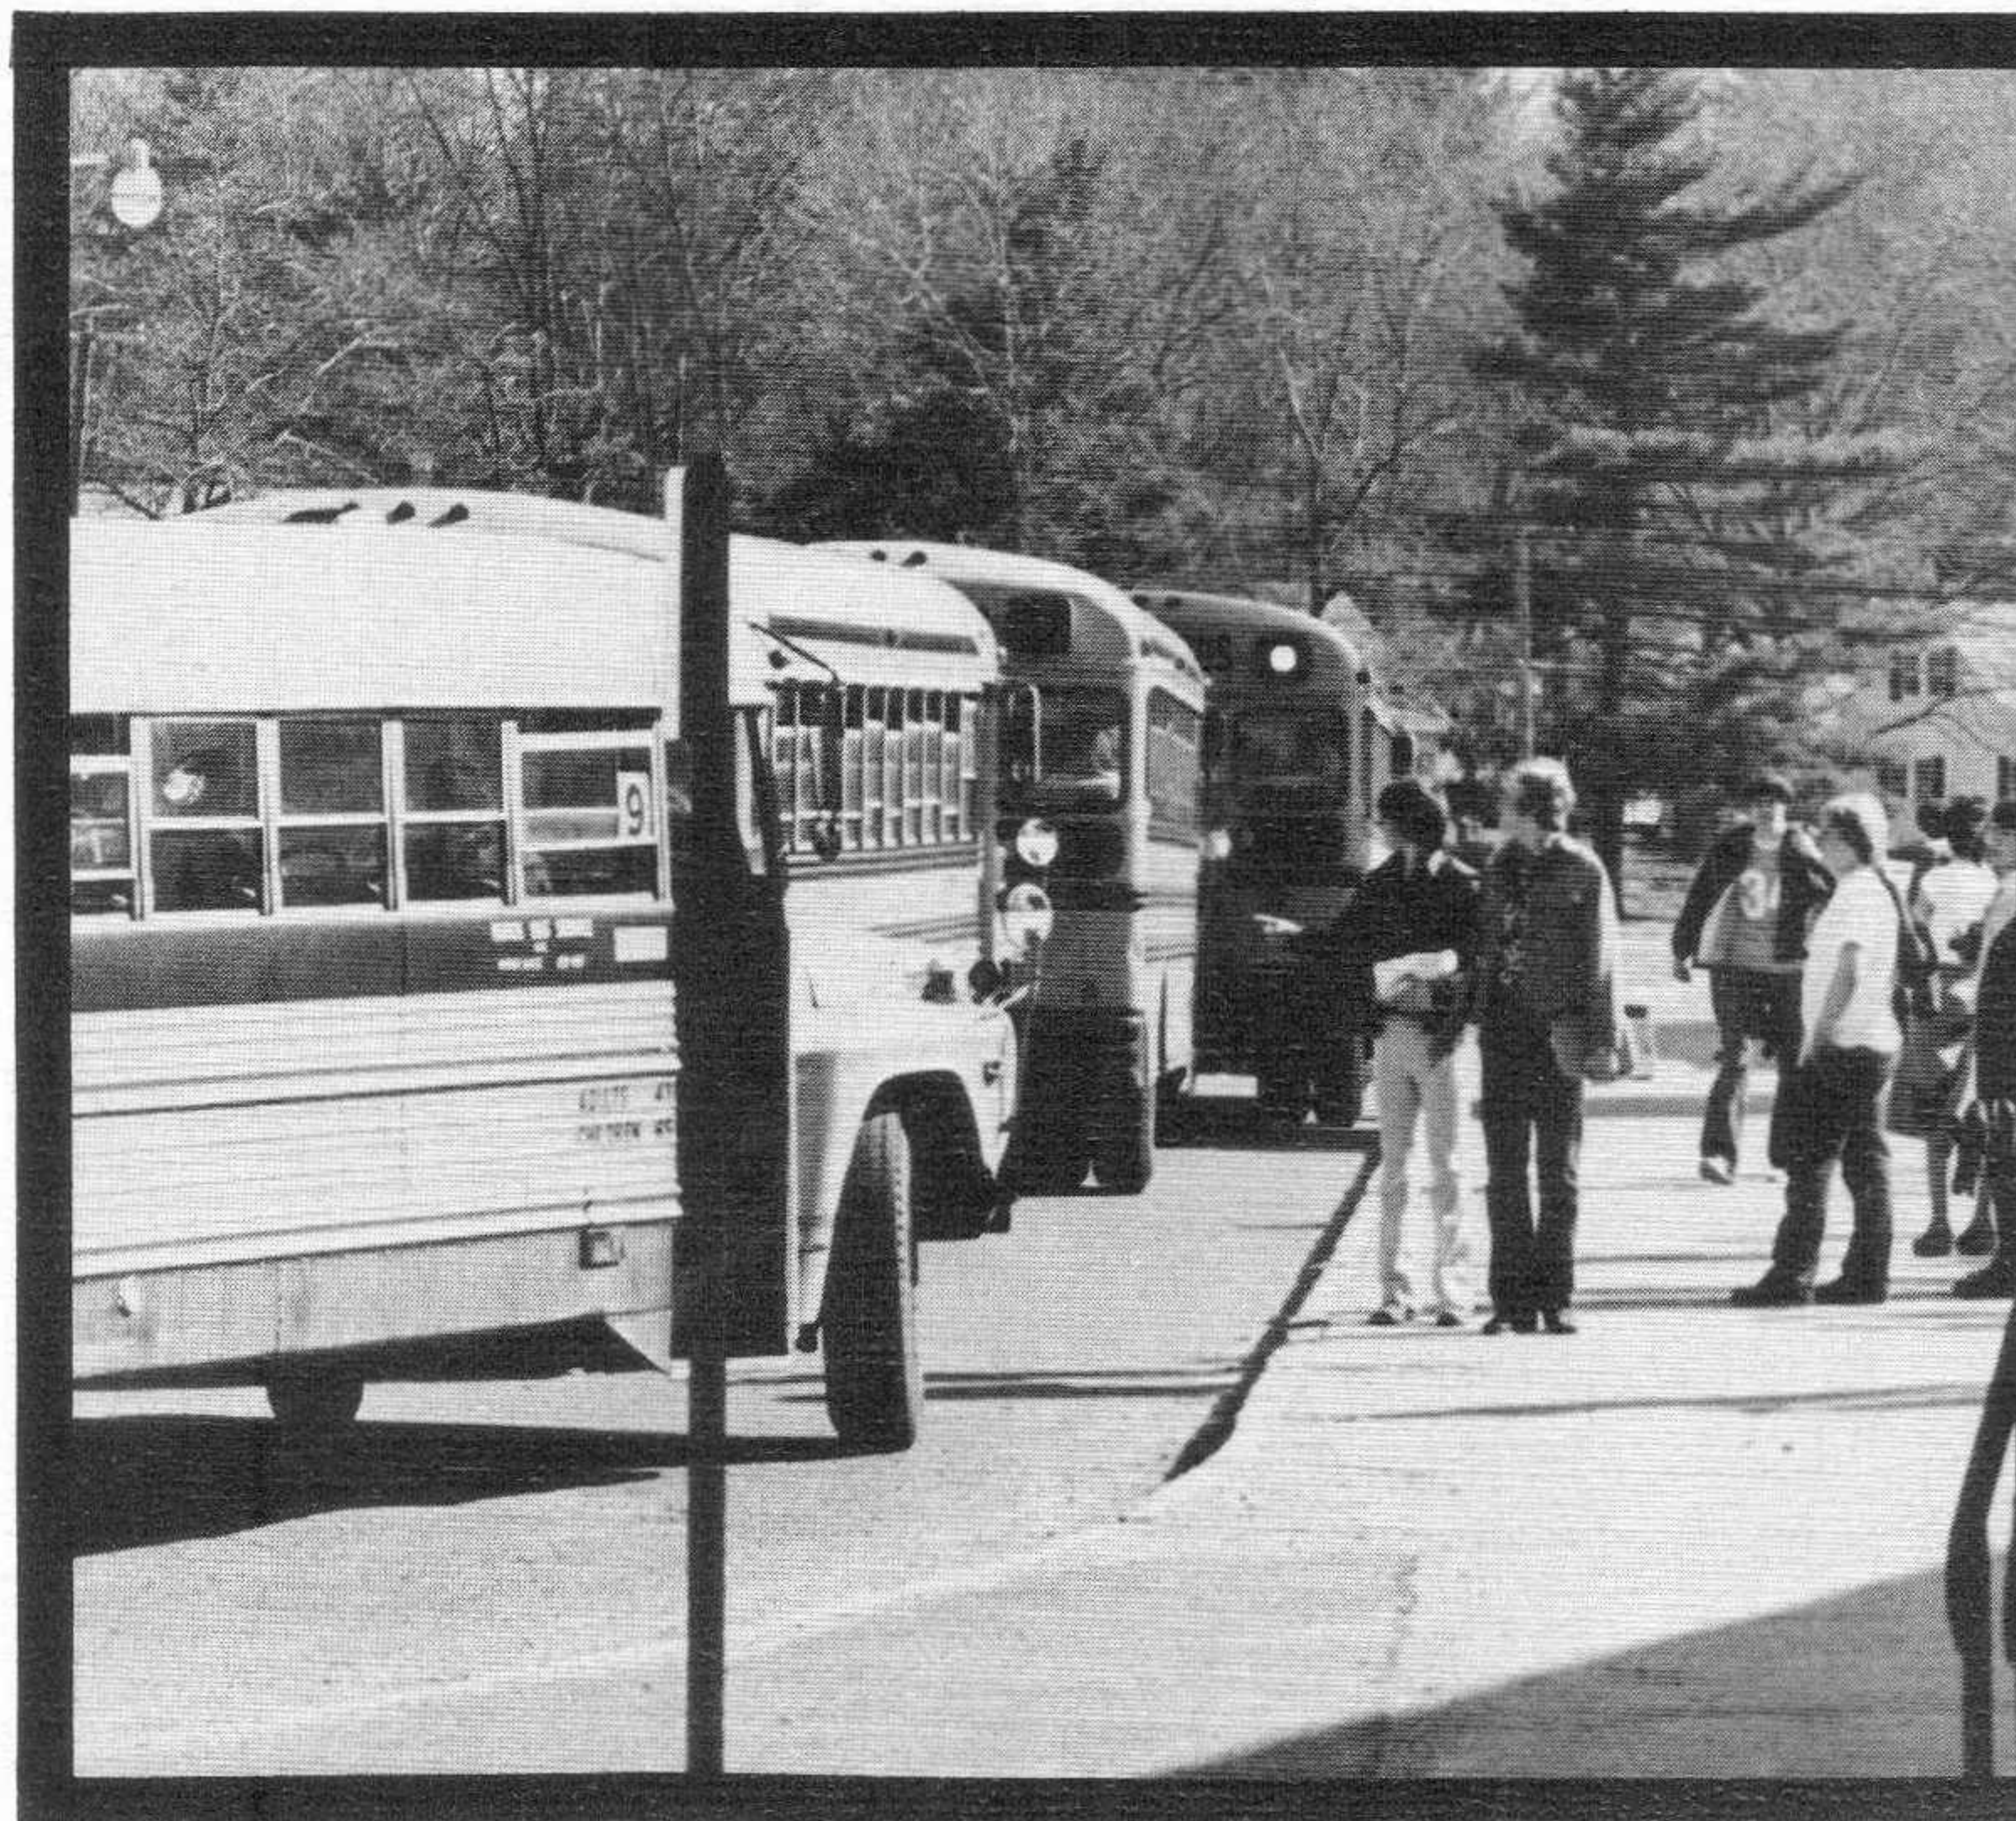

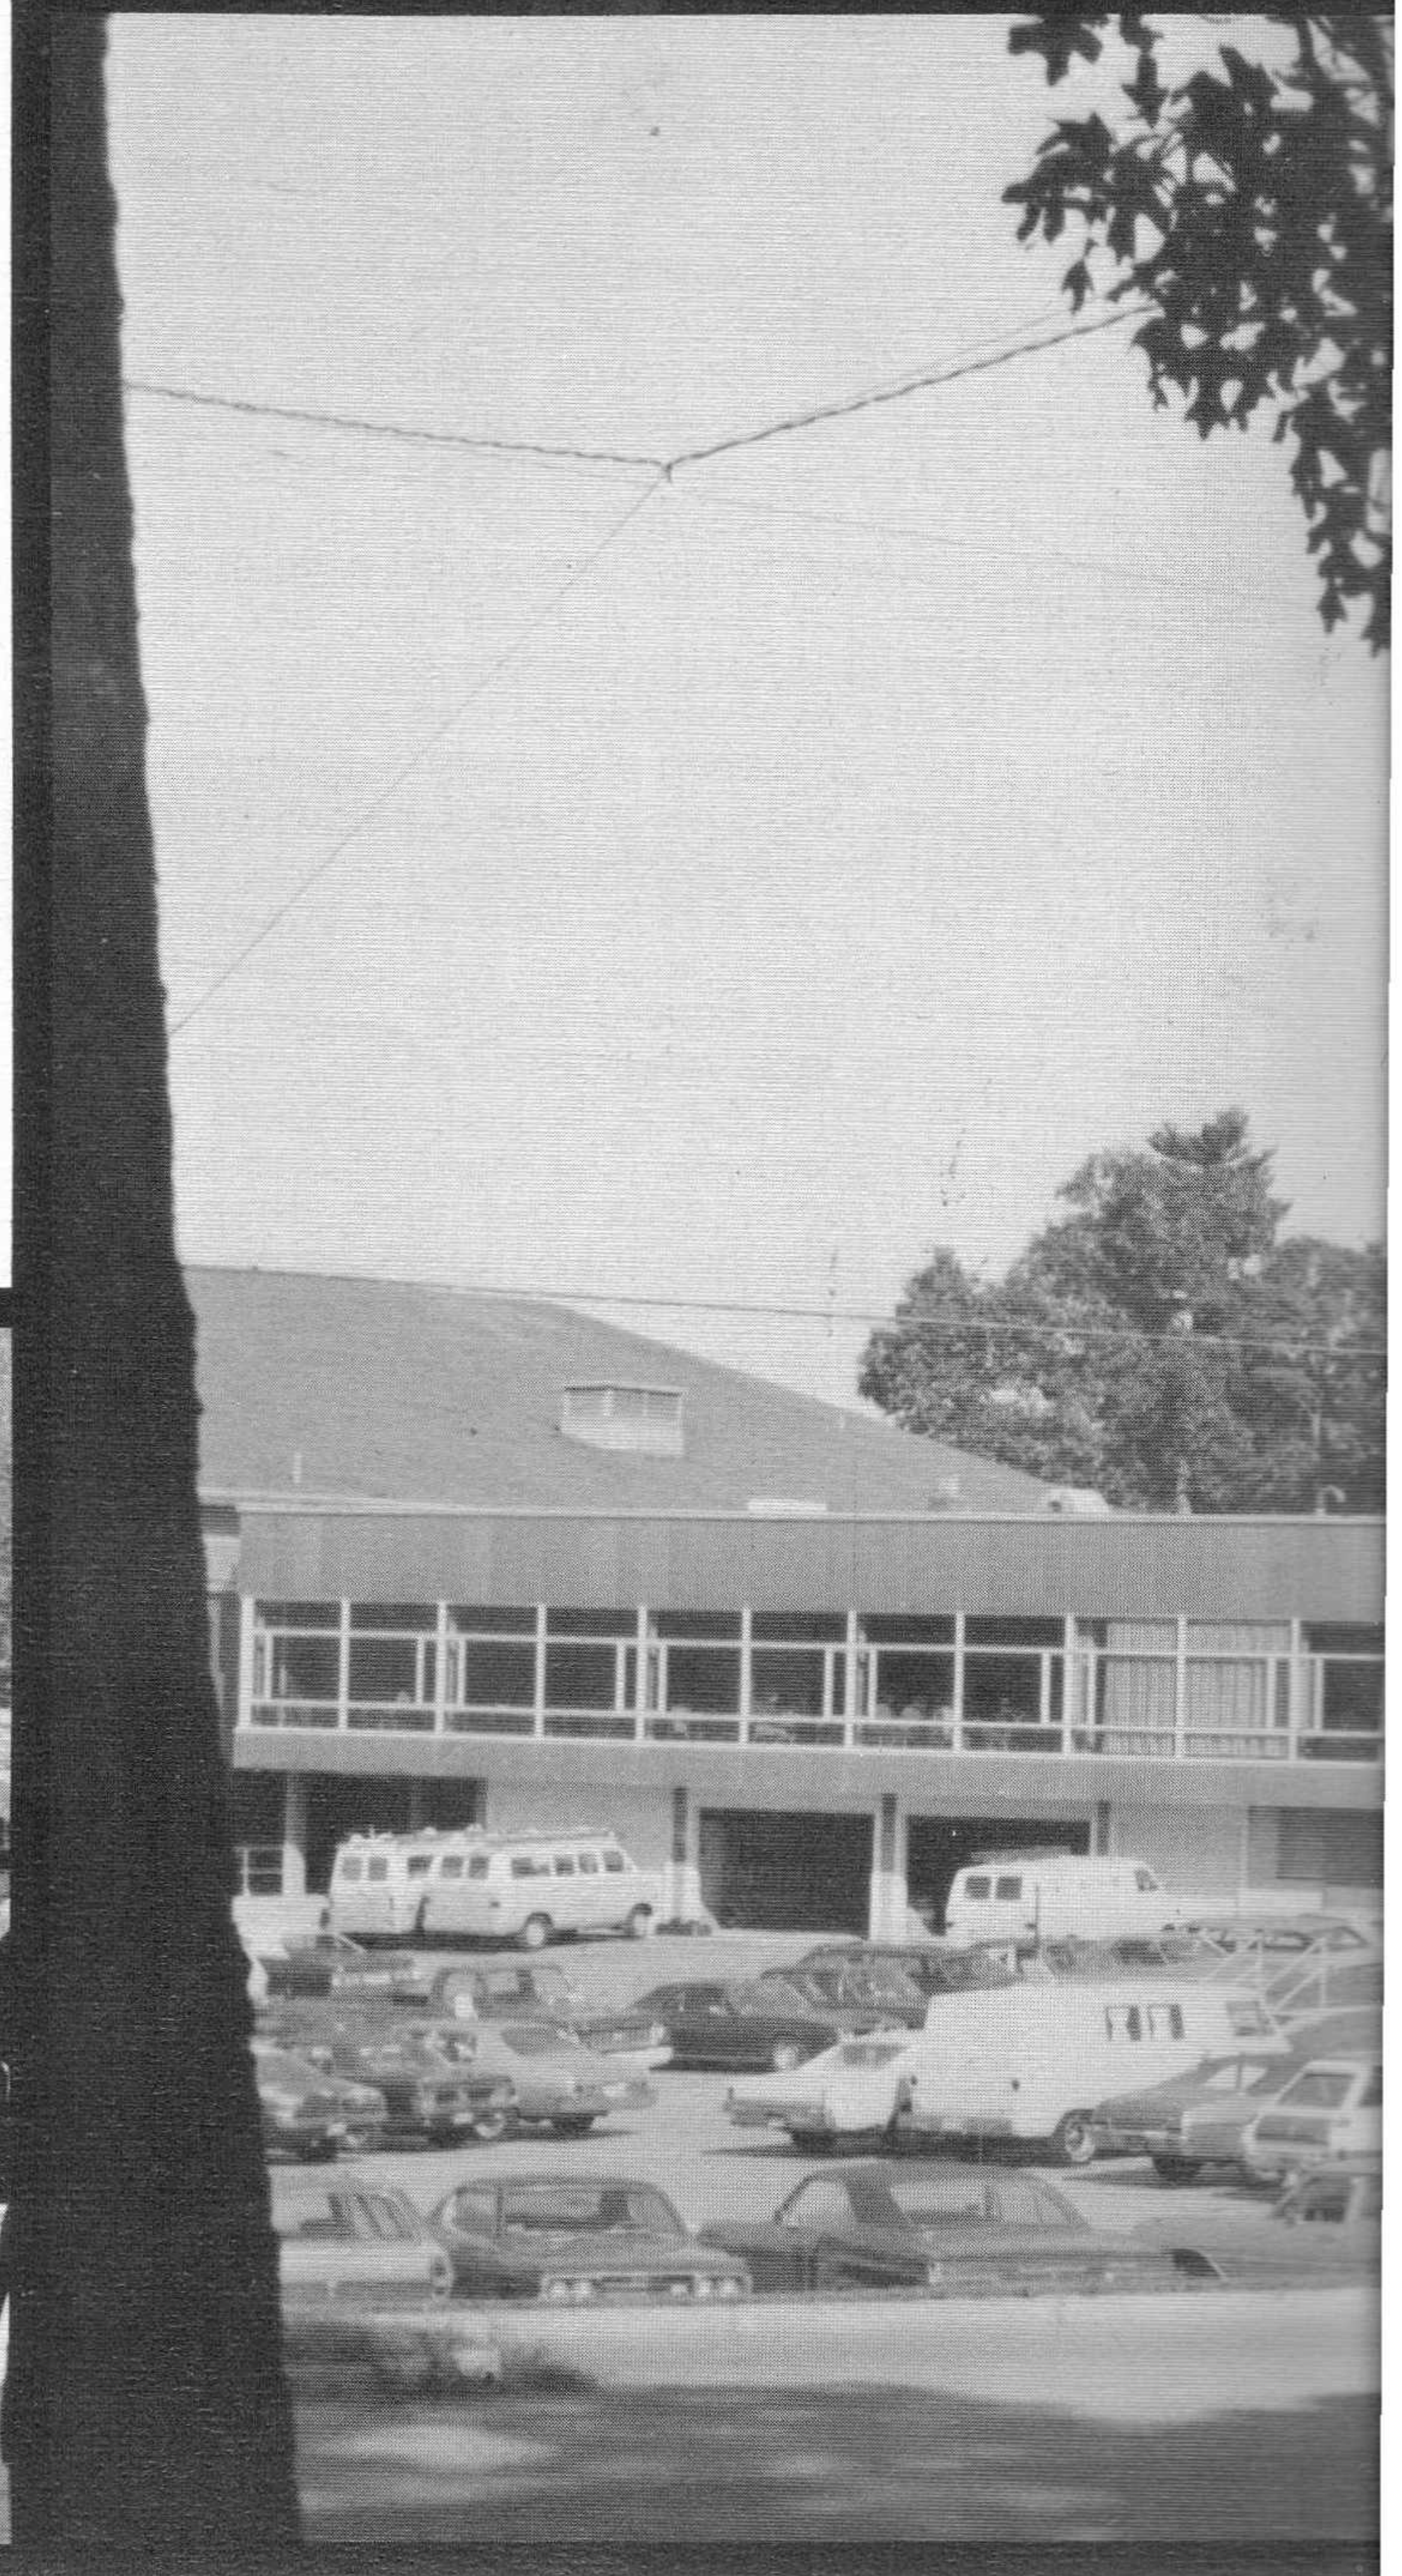

We, Paul, Maureen, Amira and Sue, leave thanking all the seniors who helped us during the year.

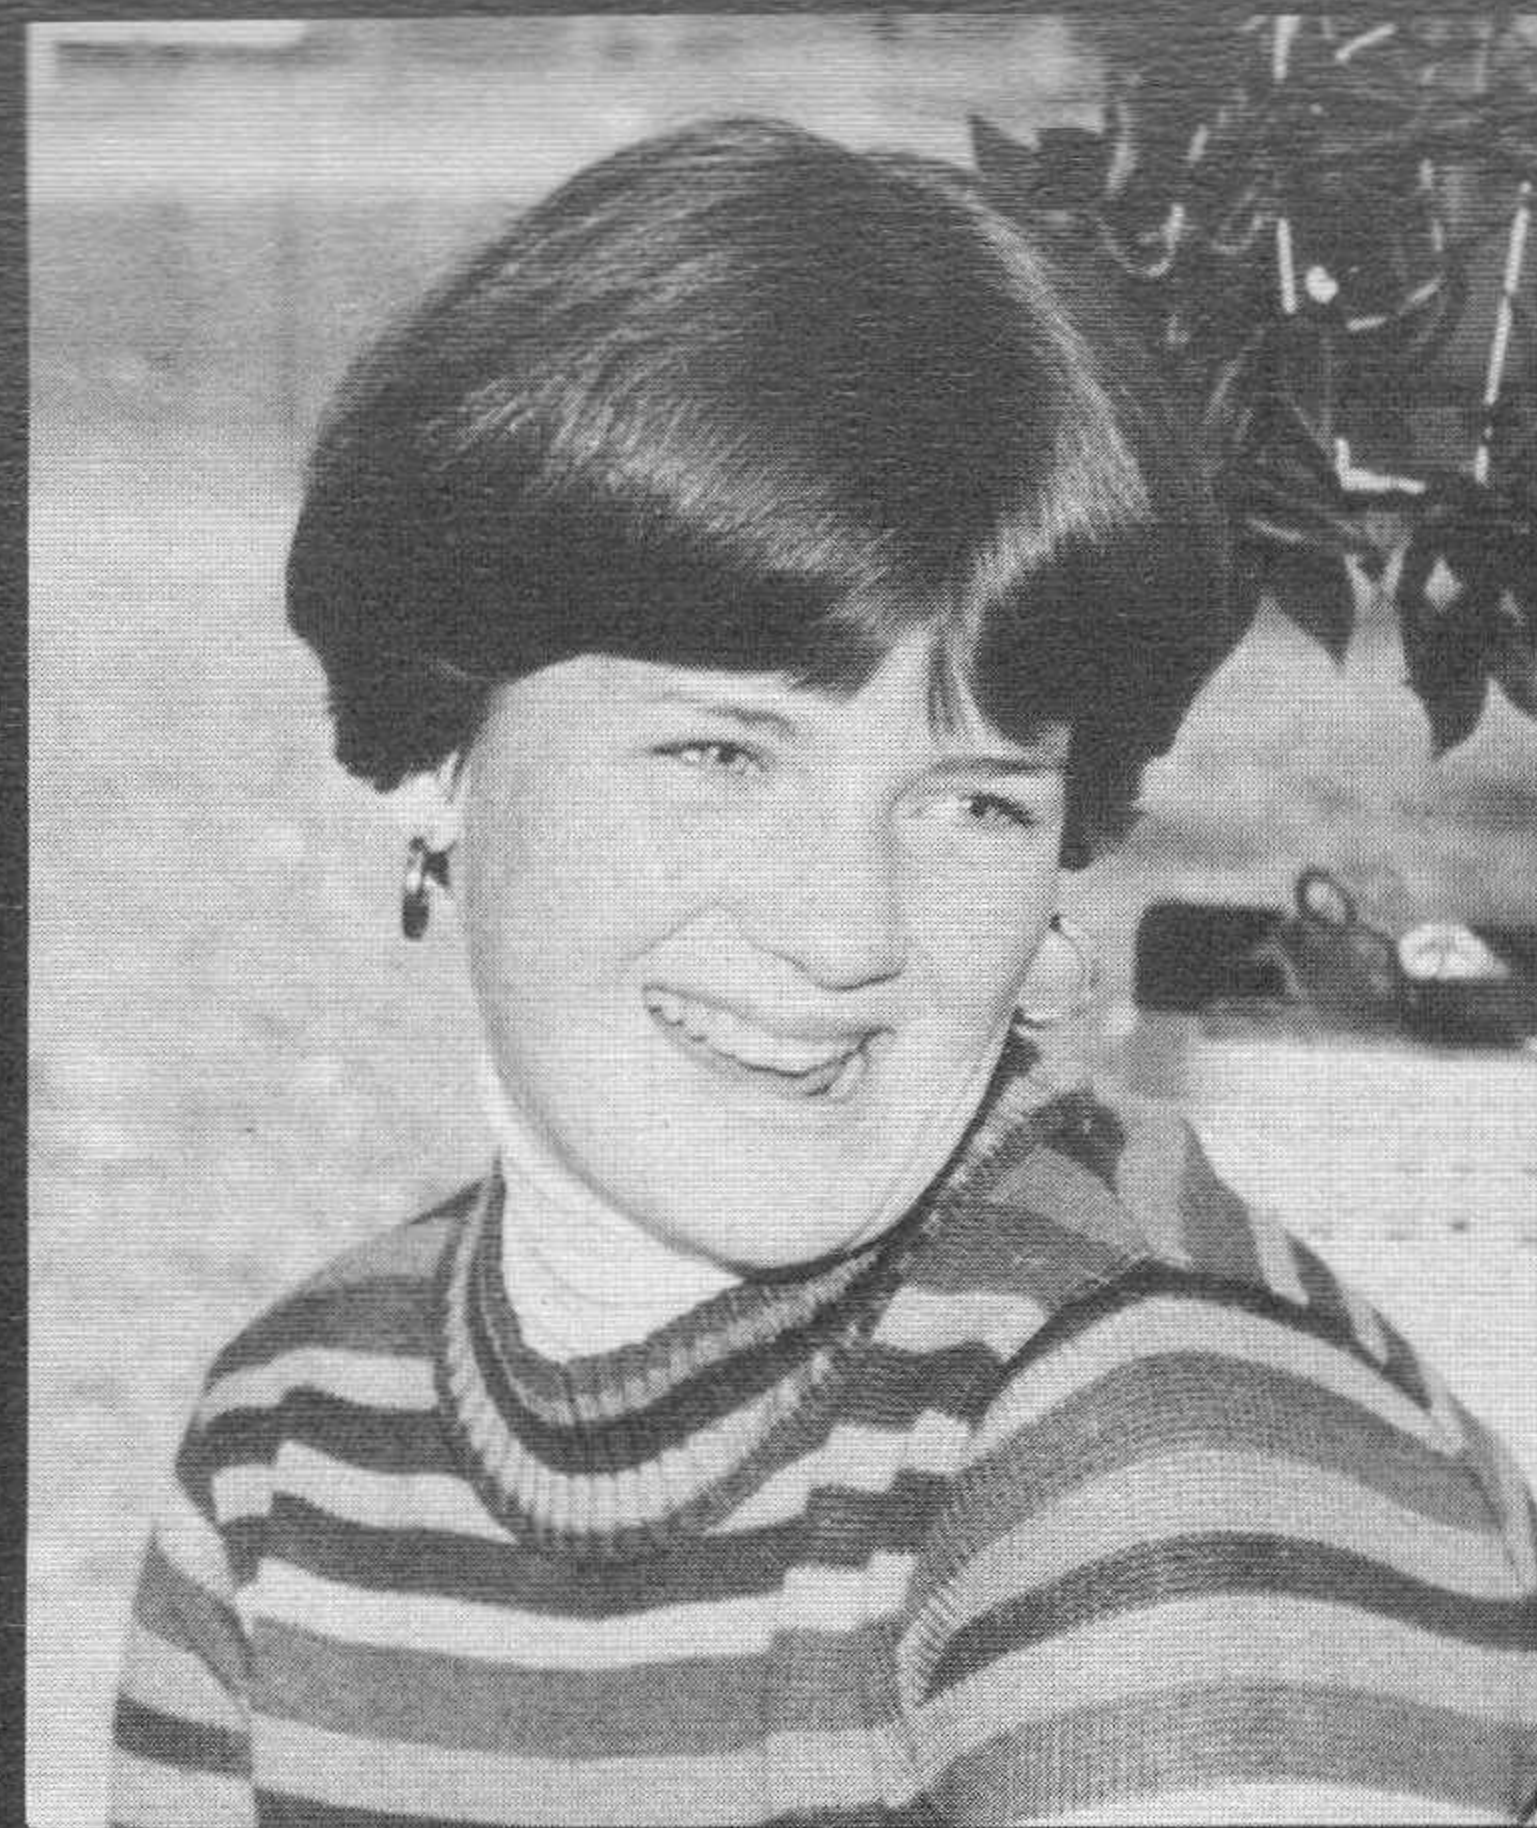

The Class of 1977 leaves with pride and a hope that the future will be as real as the past has been.

Compiled by Nell Franchitto and Nancy Vendetti.

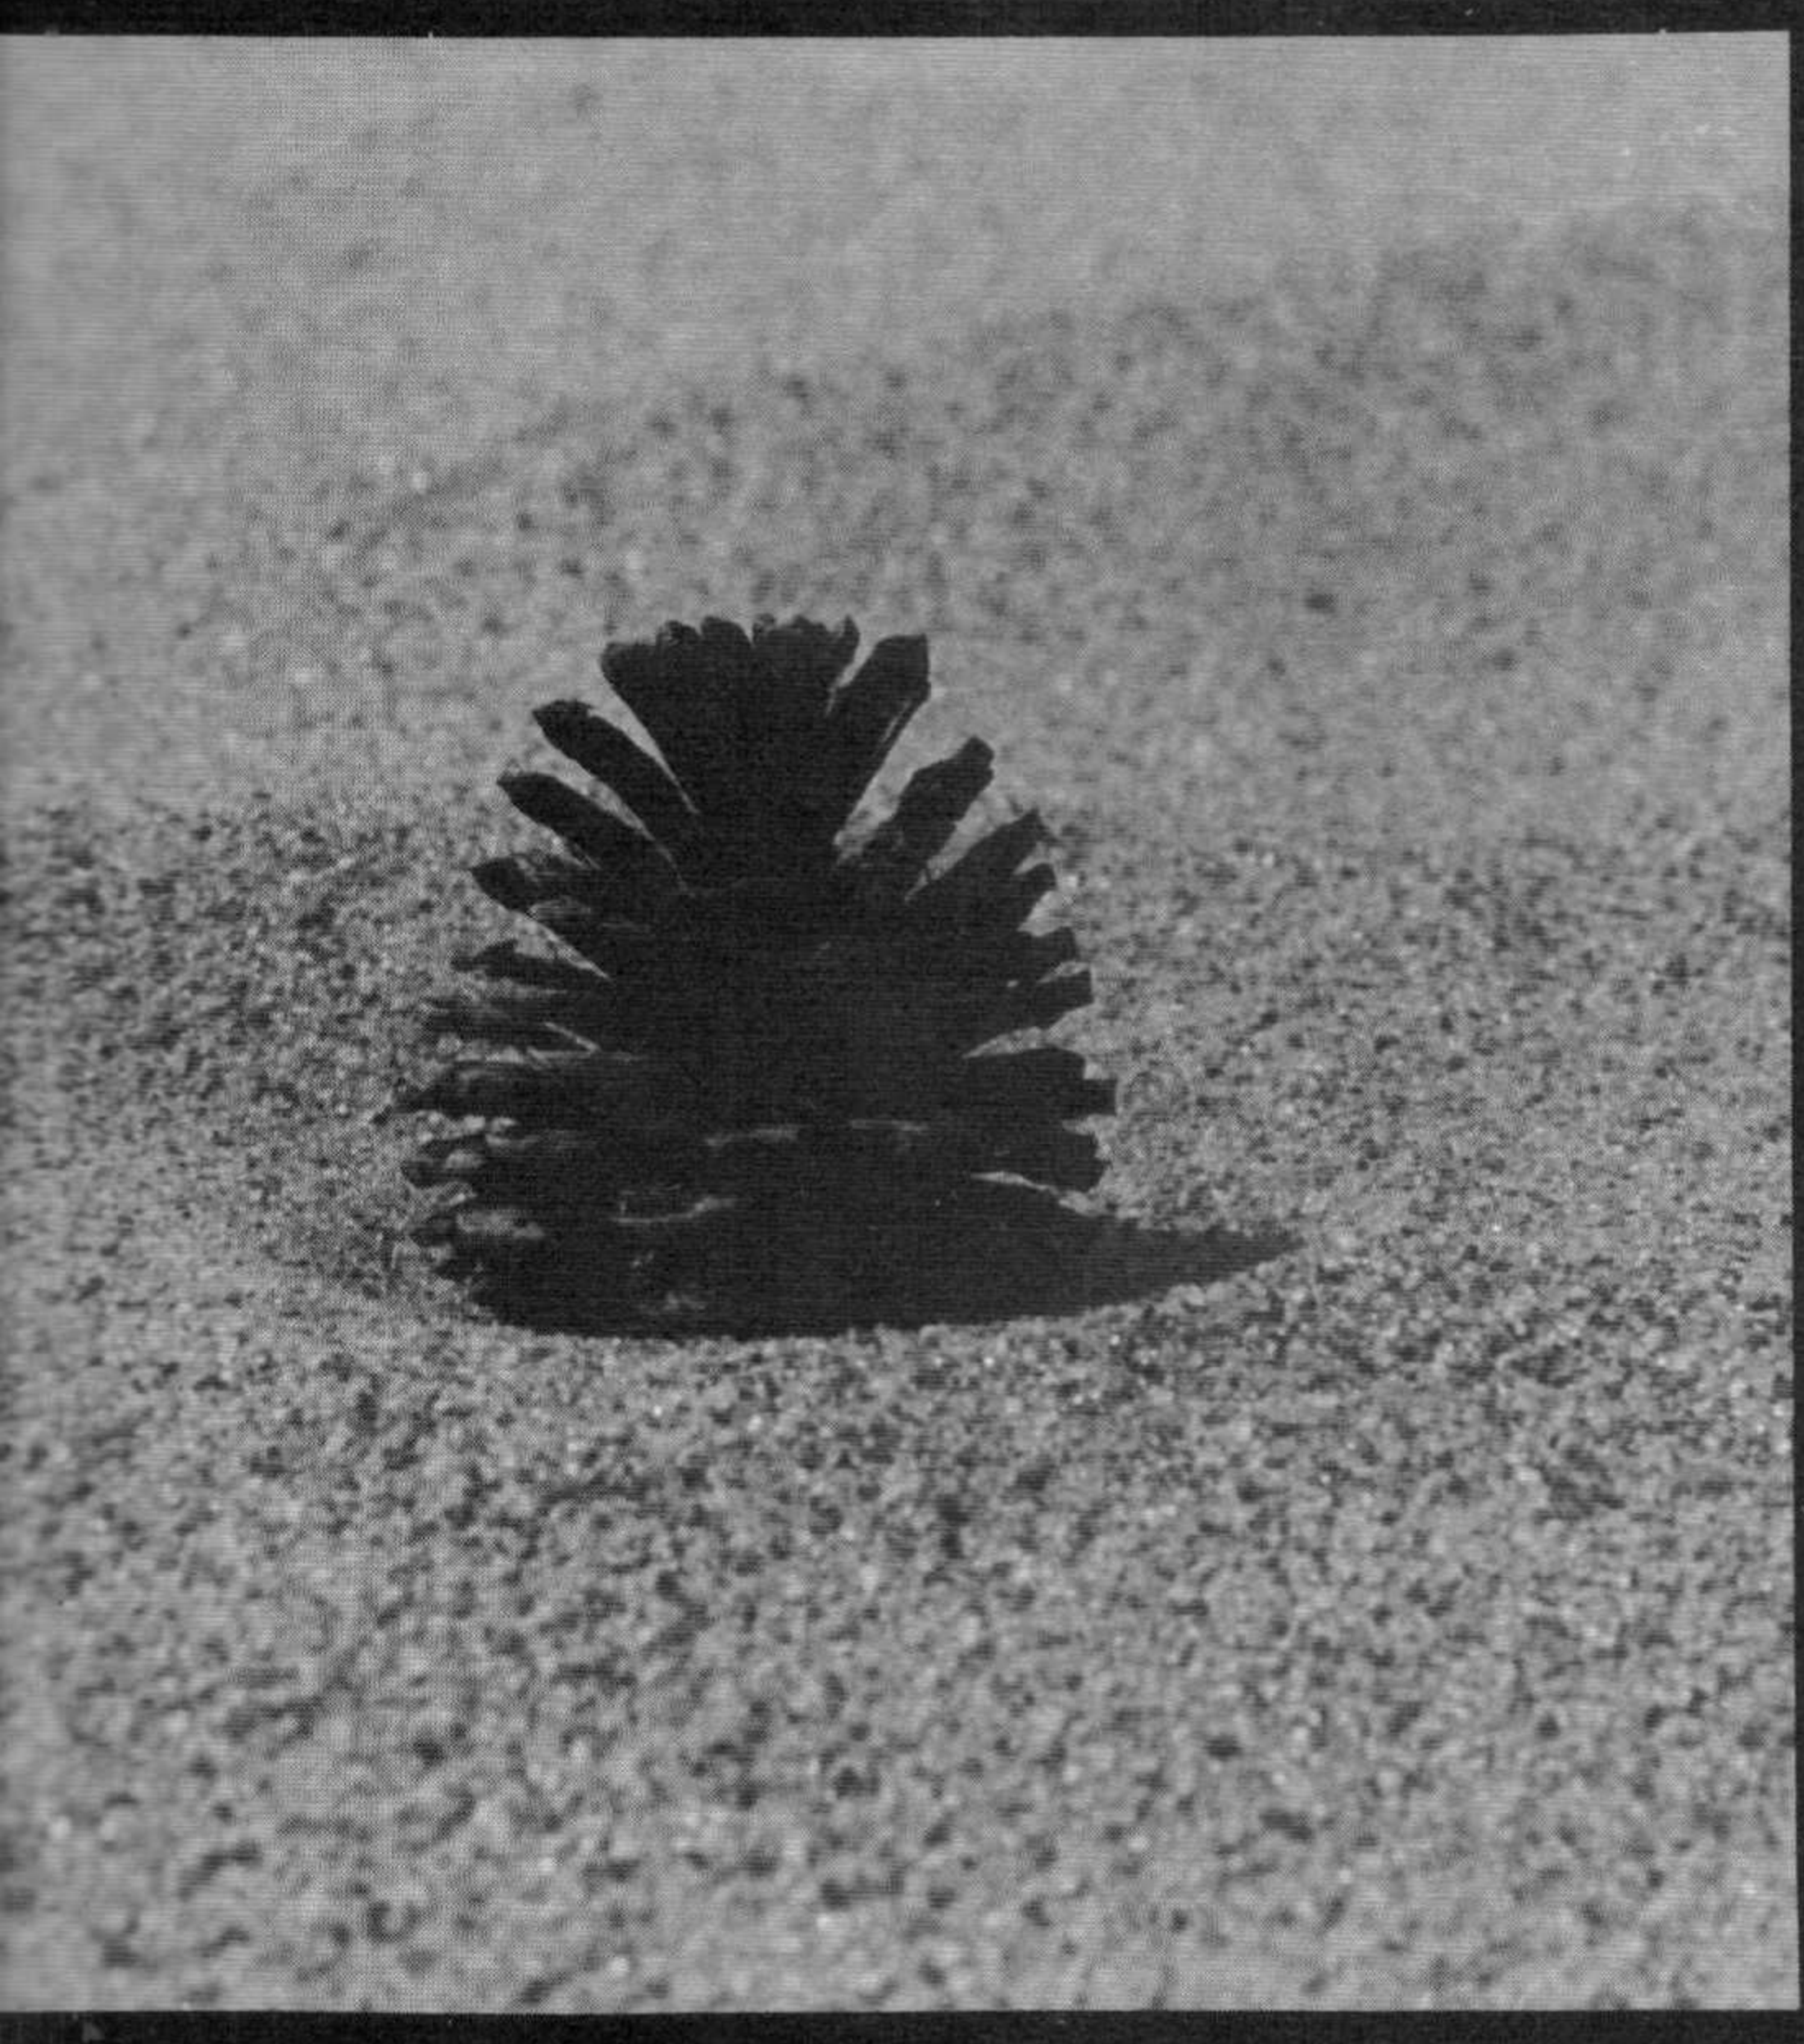

As this book comes to a close, so do our years at Natick High School. As this chapter of our life ends, however, another bigger and more important chapter of our life begins. It is nice to look upon our years here at NHS with happy memories of good times, but we must leave this all behind us and venture out into a new environment that in all probability will be entirely different from the one that we are accustomed to. A good portion of us will be on our own, free to run our own lives and plan our own future. It is with mixed emotions that many of us leave the school, for although we realize that adjusting to a new lifestyle will be far from easy we also see this adjustment as another challenge, another goal to reach, another step towards maturity.

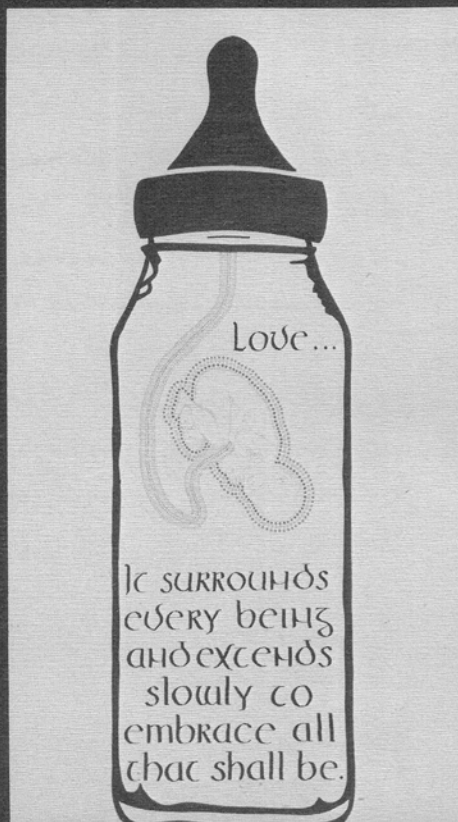

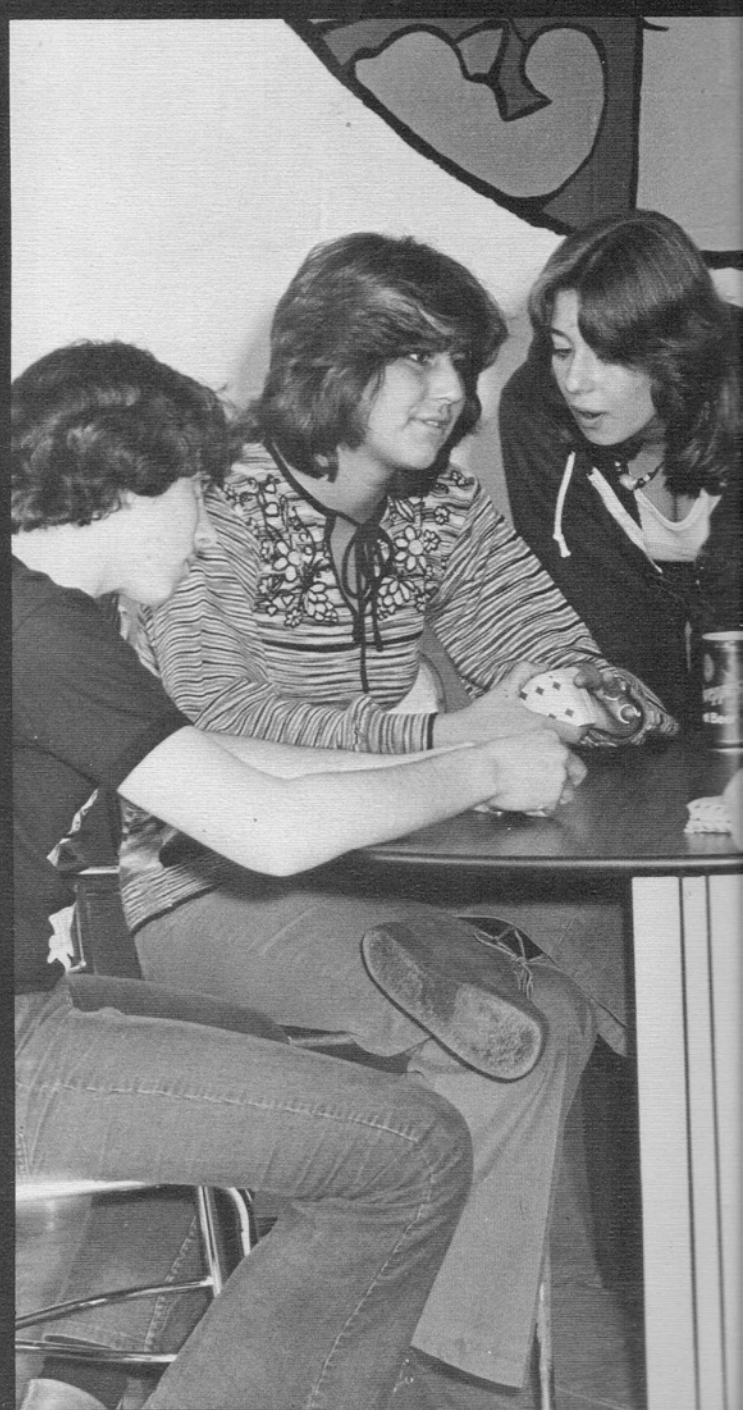

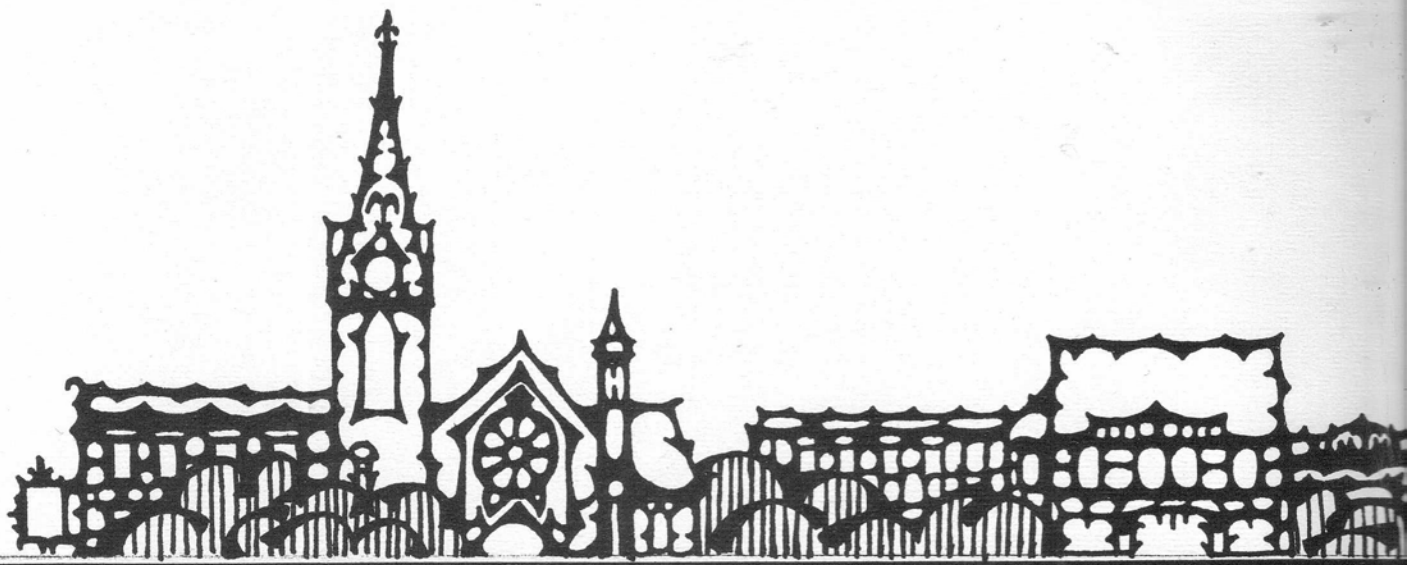

It would be wonderful if there was a little slogan or motto that could be written here that we as graduating seniors could follow as a rule for the rest of our lives. Unfortunately, however, life is too complicated and the situations in the years to come will be too diversified for one rule or motto to hold true for everything. We the yearbook staff would like to leave you with a few lines of poetry from Rod McKuen that hopefully conveys a little bit of what we are trying to say:

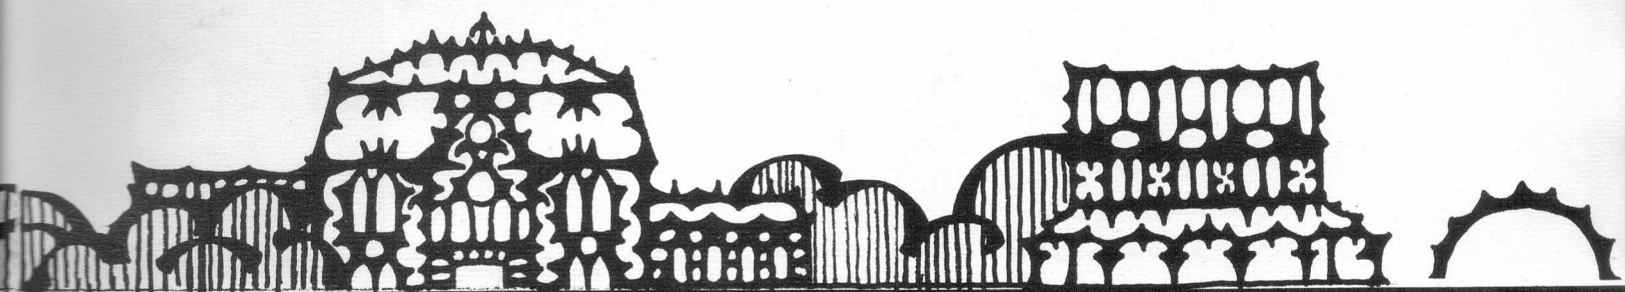

No matter where we are,
we shouldn't stop thinking that we're just a day away from where we want to be.

We shall always live for today.

We shall look upon our yesterday.

But more than this we shall strive for a better tomorrow.

Many things go into the making of a yearbook and there are many people that we the Sassamon staff of 1977 are very grateful to. Money is not the easiest thing to come up with in this world of ours, and we are especially grateful to all of our patrons and donors for contributing to the financial aspect of the book. Their kindness and consideration was greatly appreciated by us all.

As I sit here chucking over the last of the layouts, many people come to mind who deserve my thanks for making this book the best one I have been adviser for.

First, thanks to all the members of the staff who not only worked conscientiously throughout the year, but who also upheld their responsibilities until the job was done. Few people appreciate the amount of work that a book this size involves as most of the work goes on when no one is looking.

Again, thanks to Bill Holbrook and his junior journalism students for bailing us out again with a few sports write-ups.

To Sue and Amira, you did an especially fine job all the way through.

An especially heartfelt thanks goes to Paul, not only for his extensive and high-quality work, but, most of all, for his thoughtfulness at the end in giving me all the help and understanding.

I will look back on this year with many memories. Some of the funniest I will recall will involve that last week. Remember the pickup and deliveries of pictures over the dial county at Roche Bros, Paul? And hey, the management doesn't know it, but sometimes I think more copy went through the check-out stand than groceries. Then there was Jill's copy written on scraps and pasted to pages! And Patti's relieved mother delivering her deadline! Finally, the conversations with Tom's mother and his late-night deliveries! "No problem!"

A job well-done! Keep in touch!
Janet Nelson
